Find Missing Man Gored to Death By Bull

VICTIM FOUND IN FIELD NEAR LOUDONVILLE

Search Party Finds Body of Well Inspector 9 Hours After Attack.

FAMILY CALLS FOR HELP

Wife Alarmed When Jelloway Man Fails to Return For Evening Meal.

LOUDONVILLE—A hastily organized search party of neighbors and friends last night found the body of Joseph Benge, 60, gas well inspector, in a farm field. He apparently had been gored to death by a bull.

The searchers found the body at the edge of a small creek on the Willard Mapes farm near Jelloway, seven miles south of Loudonville. Benge's home was in Jelloway.

Dr. C. L. Harner of Danville, Knox county coroner, announcing a verdict of accidental death, said Benge had received severe chest injuries over the heart.

Benge was an employe of the Ohio Fuel Gas company. He inspected gas wells in that vicinity.

Members of his family said today that he had left the house yesterday about 1 p. m. to make his rounds. When he failed to return home for the evening meal, his wife became alarmed and asked neighbors to help search for him.

It was feared that he had been taken ill or had met with an accident.

At about 11:30 p. m. two of the searchers, William Simpson, a son-in-law of Benge, and Vernard Davis, a boarder at the Benge home, found the mangled body on the Mapes farm. The farm is owned by Dr. John Reed of Butler.

On Inspection Route.

The victim was found near a gas well which is on Benge's inspection route. Mrs. Simpson, his daughter, said today that the bull was loose in the field and that on at least one occasion her father had

SENATE VOTE ON AVIATION SHIFT FOUGHT

OPPOSITION CLAMORING

McCarran Serves Notice He Will Move for Immediate Consideration.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Administration lieutenants sought today to postpone a senate vote on the proposed reorganization of the civil aeronautics authority in the hope of strengthening their ranks.

The house disapproved the reorganization plan yesterday, 232 to 153, and senate rejection would kill it. Senator McCarran (D.-Nev.), leading the fight against the president's proposal, served notice that he would move for its immediate senate consideration.

Democratic Leader Barkley and Senator Byrnes (D.-S.C.), working against McCarran, argued that the senate reorganization committee should be permitted to complete hearings on the plan today and tomorrow.

Byrnes said several senators had advised him that they did not fully understand the president's plan, which would place the now-independent CAA within the framework of the commerce department. It also would abolish the present air safety board and would shift the weather bureau from the agriculture to the commerce department.

Republicans were expected to give McCarran solid support, and leaders on both sides conceded that the vote on immediate consideration would be close. In the house, 77 Democrats joined the solid Republican membership in opposing the reorganization plan.

In order to act on McCarran's motion to take up the reorganization plan, the senate decided to lay aside temporarily legislation to stop treasury purchases of foreign silver. A vote on that measure may not be reached this week.

In the house, leaders called for action on a transportation bill which would place water carriers under control of the interstate commerce commission. There was some sentiment for returning the measure to committee for further study.

Heavy Fire of House Fails to Shake Minister

Agrees to Debate on War Conduct Two Weeks Hence; Complete Change In Cabinet Following 'Technical' Resignation Possible.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain fought today to keep his government in power and to bolster defenses against a German attack on the British Isles.

Defying the predictions of most London newspapers that he would resign, the 71-year-old prime minister showed no intention of quitting when he again faced a turbulent house of commons which had given him a doubtful 81-vote majority in a test of confidence.

Instead, he was represented as considering a complete cabinet reorganization in an effort to weather the still-increasing storm of opposition by a more energetic war policy.

The beginning of more drastic action was seen in:

1. A proclamation signed by King George making 2,500,000 more men between the ages of 19 and 37 liable for military service.
2. Introduction of a bill giving the government drastic power to crush "Trojan horse" or "fifth column" traitors on the home front and take additional precautions against the possibility of invasion of the British Isles by frontal or indirect attack.

Chamberlain won a minor victory in commons when the government's motion to recess until May 21 was accepted after a new attack by Robert Boothby, Conservative, who said that the prime minister's cabinet did not possess the confidence of the country.

It was believed that the prime minister hoped to retain office by reconstruction of the cabinet to replace unpopular ministers and bring in energetic new members who would command the confidence of parliament.

This led some experienced political observers to believe that Chamberlain would resort later to a "technical resignation" in which he formally would offer to resign but accepted the king's commission to form a new government. Such a move would permit him to "start from scratch" in building a new cabinet.

Chamberlain had indicated, by his presence in the house and by a promise to agree to debates on war policy after a Whitsuntide recess, that he intended to fight it out against his opponents and remain in office despite the narrow confidence vote which he obtained last night after the bitter two day debate on the Norweigan campaign. The vote had been interpreted as a defeat rather than as a victory.

Chamberlain had proposed an adjournment until May 21. Boothby, with the support of some other dissidents, proposed an adjournment only until next Tuesday in view of the international situation.

Boothby recalled that government speakers told the house yesterday that the strategic situation was serious.

"There is no use pretending that the situation has not been aggravated by what took place in this house yesterday," he said. "We are now confronted with a serious situation at home."

"At any moment there may be a new thrust," he said. "Holland is waiting, not knowing when its hour of destiny may arrive. The same applies to Belgium."

STAYS ON JOB DESPITE OUSTER

City Worker Defies Discharge From Inspection Job; Mayor to Name Successor.

A city worker, notified of his dismissal a week ago, but who has refused to quit his job put a perplexing problem before the city administration today.

Acting on an order from the civil service commission which notified him that no further payroll vouchers would be approved for the employe because he was illegally employed, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton discharged Albert E. Hancock, inspector in the engineering department.

Crafton said today Hancock refused to quit his job as inspector on the West Fourth street water project. He asserted, however, that an appointment would be made, probably today by Mayor William J. Locke, to take over Hancock's position.

He explained that although Hancock, appointed five years ago, remained on the job the city could not legally pay him for his time.

Meanwhile Locke announced the transfer of Dan Phillips, waterworks pumpman, to the position of laborer at the sewage plant. He said Phillips would replace Russell Fairhurst, named to the job several weeks ago.

Phillips, a provisional appointee in the water department, was transferred because one shift at the Hedges pumping station had been taken off, the mayor said.

Husband Objects Alimony Awarded Wife Not Enough

CAMDEN, N. J.—(INS)—"I don't think that's enough," objected Francis H. King in Camden chancery court when Advisory Master William B. Knight awarded his wife $15 a week for maintenance of herself and two children.

"How's that?" asked Knight, incredulously.

"I don't see how she and the children could possibly get along on that," replied King, whose wife, Ruth, is seeking a divorce on grounds of cruelty. "I make $58 a week and would be glad to pay $20, and more when she needs it."

"There's a lot of good in him," sobbed Mrs. King, "if he'd only leave drink alone."

Refusing to change his original order, Knight suggested that King could make larger payments whenever he pleased and advised the couple to try and effect a reconciliation today.

GET COMMISSIONS

ANNAPOLIS, Md. —(AP)— Two Ohioans are included in a class of 25 midshipmen scheduled by the navy today to receive commissions as second lieutenants at the June 6 commencement. They are D. C. Wolfe of Portsmouth, and E. V. Mendenhall of Cleveland Heights.

Nazi Press Charges Webb Miller Slain by British

Germans Claim American Writer Was Murdered Because He Told Truth About English Government.

(By United Press)

BERLIN—The German press, apparently on orders from above, charged today that Webb Miller, general European manager of the United Press, had been murdered by the British secret service.

Taking their cue from the official news agency, DNB, which had circulated the charge last night, today's newspapers featured it under sensational headlines.

(In London, a spokesman for the foreign office commented on the DNB charge as follows: "Mr. Webb Miller, who was held in great respect and affection in both government and journalistic circles in London, met his death by accident. It is understood he was traveling home after debate in parliament and, opening the wrong door on the railway carriage, was instantly killed by a train approaching on another line. His death is mourned in London where he had a host of friends and not the least in government circles who had reason over a number of years to appreciate him not only as a fine correspondent but as a warm friend.")

Swoelf Uh Blatt said: "Secret service against the U. S. A. . . . Murder of the chief correspondent of American news agency . . . Webb Miller was too critical of the government. He was made to 'fall out' of a train."

The Boersen Zeitung, in a special edition, said: "If any further proof were needed of the nervousness which is overtaking leading

REPORT DENIED

Turkey Says State of Siege Law Not Yet Enforced.

ANKARA—(INS)—German radio reports that martial law has been declared in Turkey were officially denied today.

MERCURY DIPS

Goes Back Down to 30's In Quick Plunge From 77.

Down into the 30's went the mercury again last night to remind over-enthusiastic welcomers of spring to keep their fingers crossed.

A sharp drop in temperature started yesterday afternoon after the sun had warmed thermometers up to 77. It grew cooler as the day advanced and was cold late last night when the mercury hit bottom at 38—only six degrees above freezing.

There was a spattering of rain. The temperature remained at 72 up to this noon.

PREFERS SCOTCH TO DEATH LEAP

Drink Promise Lures Writer Away From 16-Story Jump.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Lured by a drink of Scotch whisky from a 16th floor windowsill from which he threatened to leap, Harlan McIntosh, 32, a writer, was in Bellevue psychopatic ward today.

While police on the roof were preparing to drop anti-suicide nets, an officer inside the McIntosh apartment had an inspiration. He offered McIntosh a drink of his own Scotch. That did the trick and McIntosh climbed back into the room.

Looks Ahead to Vote Count, Finds It'll Be Quite a Job

Tabulators at the county board of elections, who will call off the returns next Tuesday night when votes in the primaries are reported in, face a task that will try the best vocal chords.

They must compile returns on 195 candidates—114 on the Democratic ballot and 81 on the Republican ballot—from 92 city and county precincts.

That means that the total of names and individual returns to be called will be around 17,900. If you are a bound for statistics and figure five seconds in which to say a name and a set of figures, you'll end up with hours and hours of vocal work.

Even with this task divided between several callers and tabulators, you can figure that the final returns will be called in the wee small hours of the morning, or possibly not until the sun peeps over the eastern horizen.

Election supplies were being packed in bundles at the board of election offices today. Precinct judges from the county will call for their supplies Saturday from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. City precinct judges will receive theirs on Monday at the office of the board in the basement of the courthouse.

BURTON TALKS IN CITY TONIGHT

Cleveland's Mayor Carries Vote Drive to Mansfield; Davey Here Tomorrow.

The primary campaign pace will be stepped up in Richland county tonight and Friday night with the appearance of two of the state's leading campaigners in Mansfield for addresses.

Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, candidate for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator, will speak at a rally at 8 p. m. today at G. O. P. headquarters on North Main street.

Despite belated attempts to stir interest in the primary election next Tuesday, only 69 sick and absent voters' ballots had been voted at noon today, county election board officials said. That number is considerably below the usual primary voting. The deadline for obtaining ballots is 6:30 p. m. today and they must be marked and returned not later than noon Friday.

Davey's headquarters said today that the rally here is expected to attract supporters from Richland, Ashland, Crawford, Knox, Morrow, Wyandot, Seneca and Huron counties. Robert Landfair, East Mansfield, former state liquor inspector, will preside at the meeting. Common Pleas Judge Walter Mougey of Wooster will introduce Davey.

Speaking last night at Akron, Mayor Burton said he favored private ownership of utilities in most instances but advocated public op-

Residents Win by W. First Traffic Signal Protests

Yielding to a flood of protests lodged by First Ward residents against the covering of the traffic signal at West First street and Sturges avenue, city officials yesterday afternoon ordered the light placed back in operation.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said the control signal was turned on after residents in the vicinity of the intersection swamped him with telephone calls protesting the action.

He said, however, that the signal at Harker and North Mulberry streets, covered at the same time would remain shut down and possibly removed. The action on the lights was taken on recommendations from council's light committee which is seeking to eliminate some of the 56 signals in the city.

The signal at West First and Sturges avenue was installed at a cost of approximately $300 more than a year ago after First Ward residents petitioned council for the light. Several accidents at the intersections prompted the action.

NEW WEAPON

Court Upholds Canton Law on Numbers Racket.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Municipalities waging warfare against the "numbers" racket received an effective new weapon today from the state supreme court.

The high court upheld a Canton anti-gambling ordinance which decrees that the mere possession of "numbers" receipts is a presumption of guilt.

The ordinance was assailed before the supreme court by one George Washington whose conviction following his arrest a year ago was upheld by the Stark county courts. The supreme court overruled a motion to review.

FOUND DEAD

West Virginia Youth Shot to Death at Girl's Home.

GLEN DANIEL, W. Va.—(AP)—William Stansbury, 14-year-old son of Managing Director Harry A. Stansbury of the West Virginia Chamber of Commerce, was found shot to death last night on the porch of a girl friend's home.

The boy's uncle, Herbert Stansbury of Beckley, said the bullet came from a pistol the lad had borrowed from a friend. William's father was athletic director for West Virginia university.

AGED CAT DIES

36-Year-Old Tabby Just Got Tired Says Owner.

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Mother Cat Barney died yesterday in her 25th year—reputedly the oldest cat in the United Stated.

"She wasn't ill," said her owner, Miss Frances M. Barney, "she was just tired."

ESCAPE: Nine Soldiers Steal Steamer From Under Nazi Noses

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Nine British soldiers—eight of them said to be sole survivors of a northern battalion—arrived in Britain today after stealing a 2,000-ton steamer from a German-occupied Norwegian fjord.

The men sailed the vessel through German and British minefields, guided only by a compass and assisted by two Norwegian naval officers.

It was stated the British battalion engaged 2,000 Germans in the Otta district of Norway, suffering from aerial bombing and machine gun attacks in what was called a "terrible struggle."

At the end of the second day they received orders to disperse.

Twenty British soldiers began a three-day journey without food through snow-covered mountains and eight survivors reached the Norwegian fjord to find it occupied by Germans.

Two Norwegian naval lieutenants helped them steal a ship with the aid of six crew members.

One survivor who related the story of their adventures said:

"Don't ask us what happened to the others. We don't know."

SILENT: Duce Tells Italian Crowd Words Will Follow Acts

(By United Press)

ROME—Premier Benito Mussolini made an "Army Day" appearance on the balcony of Venice palace today and climaxed Italy's war preparations and her long and bitter anti-Allied press and radio campaign by telling a cheering crowd: "You must get accustomed to my silence."

The crowd shouted: "Tunisia!" referring to Italy's claims on French Tunisia, and set up a terrific din, expecting to hear some vital statement on the international situation, but Mussolini only said:

"As for the past month, you must get accustomed to my silence. Only acts will break my silence."

Rumors here and abroad for a week that the Allies were getting ready to strike in the Mediterranean: the recalling of British merchant ships from that sea: predictions by lesser Fascist leaders that Italy's hour of destiny was almost at hand and that when she went to war it most certainly would be on Germany's side, sharp denunciations of Britain and France by the press and radio: the maneuvering of the Italian fleet at full battle strength all failed to draw any comment from Mussolini.

It was also Army day, and had been started off with morning newspaper editorials praising the power and efficiency of the army

RUBBER SOURCE IN U. S. BOOMED BY WAR SPREAD

SALINAS, Cal. —(U.P.)— Business leaders of the Salinas valley have proposed that the United States produce its own rubber, using the Guayule plant as the source of supply.

It was pointed out that spread of warfare to the Dutch East Indies would interfere with America's principal sources of supply and the United States might be able to produce its rubber if cultivation of the Guayule plant on a large scale proves successful.

The Guayule is a plant which grows freely in any light, sandy soil of the type suitable for raising beans, barley or similar crops.

It requires 10 inches of rainfall in the winter, but can be irrigated successfully. Guayule requires a dry, dormant summer like in California, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

Business groups supporting the campaign have proposed that marginal and submarginal lands, of which there are thousands of acres in the west and southwest, be devoted to growing the plant. They also have suggested that lands now producing surplus crops at loss to the farmers could be used also.

Production of Guayule was started here in 1922. It since has spread to San Joaquin and Santo Maria valleys and into Southern California. About 6,000 acres are planted now and so far 175,000,000 pounds of rubber have been produced.

Unlike the rubber tree, which must be tapped, Guayule is harvested at minimum expense by plowing the plant out of the ground, grinding it under water in a pebble-mill process similar to that used in making cement, and skimming the rubber, which is lighter than water, off the top.

Dr. W. B. McCallum, botanist directing production here, reported cross-breeding and development of the weight of the rubber has increased tonnage considerably. He said the rubber averages 1,800 pounds per acre at the end of four years and 2,500 pounds after eight years.

The botanist said the plant requires little cultivation and may be plowed under at the end of four years or not before 30 years. In case of emergency, he added, the plant could be harvested in two years, although production would be less than half the amount of a 4-year-old plant.

ONE FATALITY

One Richland county worker was fatally injured while on the job in March and 251 others filed injury claims with the Ohio Industrial commission during the month, the commission's report showed today.

One Richland worker received injuries that resulted in permanent partial disability. Twenty-six claims were for seven days lost time, 18 for seven days or less and 206 were medical treatment cases. Total time lost by county workers during the month was 7,451 days.

There were 113 industrial fatalities in Ohio for the month, 49 of them resulting from the Willow Grove mine disaster in the eastern part of the state. Claims filed in March totaled 16,344, a gain of 1,717 over February.

MOLASSES FLOW SHIFTED BY WAR

Buffalo, N. Y., Changed to Trans-Shipment Port by European Scrap.

Plans of the Conners-Marine Corporation of New York, operators of a fleet of Barge Canal boats, to erect two huge tanks here is expected to turn Buffalo into a molasses trans-shipment center.

The New York company has leased a land tract along Buffalo's waterfront, and construction plans call for an expenditure of $75,000 in erection of two tanks with a capacity of 3,000,000 gallons of molasses and a heating-pumping plant. Operations will start about July 1, it was reported.

Desire of the New York firm to make Buffalo a headquarters for the trans-shipment of molasses resulted from the stoppage of such shipments from Czechoslovakia. Large quantities were imported from the central European nation prior to German control.

The war brought about a reversal of the movement. Molasses now is moving in large quantities from the Western part of the United States in specially-designed tank cars.

Plans call for routing shipments to Buffalo by rail. Here the molasses will be stored in the new tanks and later loaded into steel barges.

INN LUCK

Proprietor, Family Move Out in Time to Miss Avalanche.

GRINDELWALD, Switzerland —(AP)—The absence of foreign tourists in Switzerland during the European war was a good thing for the proprietor of the Baeregg mountain inn and his family. The inn remained empty and the proprietor and his family decided to move down to the village and close the inn. Next night an avalanche ripped the inn off its rock foundations and dumped a part of it on the Grindelwald glacier a thousand feet below.

ATTENTION—Citizens and Voters!

In checking over the list of candidates who have filed for office in the coming Primary Election on May 14, I was very much surprised to see such a large list of candidates. This shows that the voters should vote at the primary election when are nominated the candidates to be voted for at the final election. The names selected are no doubt in the judgment of the primary voters voting, the best and they therefore recommend to the voters at the final election to vote for those candidates listed under each party who are party to the printed ballot.

In the past the primary vote has been small and therefore the selections did not represent fully the majority of registered voters and shows the primary vote should have been larger and representing more fully the people's choice, for, in my judgment, the primary expresses best each party's preference for the character of citizen who they desire to have serve them and therefore is the IMPORTANT ELECTION.

While I vote the Republican ticket and have for fifty-six years, I am however first of all an American citizen.

During my period of voting we have changed by law from a two-party government, whose committees nominated the candidates for final election, to the system of primary vote where any citizen by securing required number of signatures to a petition, can have his name put on the primary ballot.

My plea is get the primary habit of voting and this plea applies to all citizens, irrespective of party.

By All Means

VOTE at the Primary Election

How Germany's Dive Bombers Work

SELTZER PARK STAFF CHOSEN

SHELBYY—H. H. Knapp was named park foreman at Seltzer park by the park board during its regular meeting Wednesday night at city hall. Knapp succeeds Gail Haun, who held the post last year.

Other employes chosen by the board for the park include coach William Query of Shelby high school, pool superintendent; Assistant Coach Raymond Hatch, assistant pool superintendent; and Frank Benham, jr., assistant life guard.

Plans to open the park officially on June 1 if the weather permits, were completed by the board. Bills totaling $112.74 were approved by the board. S. D. Inscho, sr., board president, presided at the session.

STUDY BIDS ON WATER METERS

City Officials Find Prices Hiked, But Two Firms Give Lower Proposals.

City officials for the second time today were studying bids submitted by seven firms on the purchase of 515 water meters. Similar bids were rejected two months a go when it was learned that the low bidder had offered the same meter at a lower price to a nearby city.

Opening of the new proposals, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said, revealed that with the exception of two firms, prices had been hiked approximately 10 per cent.

He said only two firms, the Neptune Meter company, New York City, and the Hersey Manufacturing company, Boston, Mass., entered bids lower than those they submitted in March. The Neptune company bid $9.97 per unit as against $10.50 the last time and the Hersey company proposed a price of $10.50 per unit as compared with $11.50, Crafton said.

The Neptune company's total bid was second high. The firm quoted a price of $5,244. The Hersey company was high with a bid of $5,523.

Other proposals were: The Phoenix Meter corporation, Staten Island, N. Y., $5,040.35; Worthington-Gamin company, Harrison, N. J., $5,032; Badger Meter company, Milwaukee, Wis., $4,957.35; Pittsburgh Equitable Meter company, Pittsburgh, Pa., $4,918.80; Buffalo Meter company, Buffalo, N. Y., $4,949.10.

Braves Lose Again

Pitching Weakness Leads to Mansfield's Third Straight Setback, 11 to 3.

By CHARLES MARTIN

When the season opened Stover thought he had the makings of a top-notch hurling corps—but weakness in that department has been responsible for the three successive setbacks the Mansfield Braves have absorbed in Ohio State league competition.

The Braves clashed with the league leading Findlay Oilers before a shivering gathering of 200 at the Fairground last night under the arcs and three moundsmen paraded to the hill as Mansfield dropped a one-sided 11 to 3 decision.

* * *

Mansfield invades Lima today to tackle the Pandas and Stover selected George Laurila, veteran righthander, to toss 'em.

* * *

Bob Arnold, who was with the Braves the first part of the 1939 season, was the first Mansfield moundsman to face the undefeated Oilers last night.

He got by the first inning, but Findlay teed off in the second for three runs and before Stover sent in Dick Otto in the third the invaders had found Arnold for three more tallies.

Otto, a 19-year-old youngster, although wild, survived until the eighth, when Findlay dinted the platter again. Dick Green, a southpaw, came in to do the twirling in the first frame, but he couldn't stop the base hits, and the Oilers pushed over a trio of runs in the ninth to turn the contest into a rout.

Mansfield, meanwhile, was having trouble solving the slants of Don May, 18-year-old lefthander. May, who came from the high school diamonds to the circuit, had the Braves literally eating out of his hands.

* * *

The Braves were unable to secure more than one hit in any frame. May allowed Mansfield to tally once in the second, again the third, and once in the eighth.

* * *

Carl Foldenauer, Braves' first-string catcher, will be behind the plate tonight. It will mark the first time he has handled the backstop duties.

Wreckers Win From Freights

Score 7 to 6 Victory in Inaugural Yesterday.

Although the All State Freight softball team outhit the Mansfield Wreckers team, the Wreckers scored their first win of the season by defeating the All State team in their inaugural yesterday on the North Lake park diamond.

The All States smashed out ten hits to the Wreckers 7, but the final score read Wreckers 7, All State Freights 6.

Shaffer and Feld worked out on the mound for the winners, with Moritz toeing the rubber for the Frieghts. Moritz also turned in the outstanding hitting performance of the evening by poling out 3 hits out of three times at bat. Moritz also scored two of the six State Freight runs.

Outstanding hitter for the Wreckers was Farrell, who netted two hits for himself out of three times at the plate.

Yanks Are In Cellar

Former Giant Pitcher Beats New York; Red Sox Win Again.

(By Associated Press)

THE world champion New York Yankees are in last place in the American league today and perhaps the most amazing aspect of their strange situation is the complacency with which everyone is accepting their slump.

The season already has been a grab bag of many surprises, but none of them compares in portent with the break-down of the wonder team of baseball.

* * *

The same club that won four consecutive American league and world championships is out there floundering like a fish out of water day in and day out, losing 11 out of its first 17 games, five in a row and nine to left-handed pitchers.

* * *

The Yanks were whipped unmercifully 10-4 yesterday by the Cleveland Indians, who started Southpaw Al Smith against them and backed him up with a 14-hit attack.

Smith is a castoff of the New York Giants who pitched for Buffalo in the International league last year. The game yesterday was his first start as an American league hurler.

The same day a New York paper printed a cartoon showing a manager tapping a lefthanded street sweeper on the shoulder and saying, "Lefthanded, huh? You're going to pitch against the Yankees tomorrow."

Yet there isn't a manager who doesn't believe the Yanks will rise again to haunt them. The fans are so stunned they don't know whether to believe their eyes.

The Boston Red Sox kept on top of the pile, squeezing past the Detroit Tigers 5-4 by bunching five hits for four runs in the fourth and with Jack Wilson doing a splendid relief pitching chore.

The Philadelphia A's outslugged the St. Louis Browns 10-8, with Benny McCoy getting four hits, to take over fourth place behind Detroit and the Chicago White Sox climbed out of the cellar with a 6-3 decision over Washington on the five-hit hurling of Ed Smith and Clint Brown.

Brooklyn's National league leaders were rained out at Chicago and the Cincinnati Reds were blocked out of a chance to move into a virtual tie when the surging Boston Bees pounded Paul Derringer off the mound and won 10-4.

* * *

The New York Giants plastered 17 hits against the Pirates for a 10-6 victory that not only ran Pittsburgh's string of defeats to eight but broke the Terrymen's own losing streak at four.

* * *

Stu Martin hit two home runs to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7-4 triumph over the Phillies, but Fiddler Bill McGee had to be rescued in the ninth.

COMMITTEE SELECTED

A committee for the purpose of building parking lots, picnic grounds, boat landings and making other improvements on lands and waters owned by the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy district was appointed at a meeting held last Thursday at Mifflin Inn of the Muskingum Conservancy district members.

Red Streaks Score First Track Victory

By GEORGE SATTLER

STAGING a nip and tuck battle all the way, the Mansfield Red Streaks scored their initial track triumph of the season yesterday by defeating their arch-rivals, the Sandusky Blue Streaks, at Stadium field.

* * *

Leading by only a scant 1-5 of a point margin, the Streaks cinched the meet in the final events by taking the three places in the broad jump and winning the mile relay. The final score was Mansfield 63 3-5, Sandusky 54 2-5.

* * *

Mansfield got off to a good start when Fred Atwater, Coach Mehock's top hurdler, nosed out Reis of Sandusky to capture first in the high hurdles. This, coupled with Yarman's copping the mile run, kept the Red Streaks out in front until the 220-yard low hurdle event.

In this event Sandusky forged ahead of the Mansfielders by taking all three places, and adding nine points to their credit. Sandusky maintained their lead until the final events when Mansfield staged its winning rally.

Fleming, Sandusky's dash man, turned in the outstanding individual performance of the meet. Not satisfied with winning the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash, and the 220 low hurdles, he also took top scoring honors in the shot put event.

Mansfield produced no outstanding high-point man in the meet. Their scoring was the result of steady plugging by a number of runners and weight men. However Bob Yarman, Fred Atwater, Elroy Jones, Templeton, Shiplet, and Hershey were outstanding for the Mansfielder's yesterday.

A large slice of the credit for yesterday's win over Sandusky should go to the two relay teams. Burns, Grant, Jones and Atwater—who make up the 880-yard relay team—and Woodbury, Lantz, Jones and Rose—who run the mile relay—won their events to garner ten much-needed points.

After yesterday's victory Coach Harry Mehock is much more optimistic about his team than he was a few weeks ago. Right now he's planning on giving Akron Garfield a real battle Saturday when the Streaks journey to Akron to fight it out with the Rubber City cinder eaters.

Catholic Order Sponsors Club

Foresters Enter 13th Season of Softball.

As a result of action taken at a recent meeting, the Catholic Order of Foresters will enter their 13th season of play in Mansfield softball circles, it was announced today.

At present the team plans to enter the Club league, in which they participated in former years. However, if the league doesn't materialize this year, the Foresters plan to feature independent ball, a spokesman said today.

The Order will be somewhat hampered by the loss of several outstanding players, but it is hoped that their juvenile department, the Boy Rangers, will fill in the openings in last year's lineup.

There will be no change in three important posts, however. Jake Gilde and Ray Malaska will start in the battery positions and C. Niedhammer will retain the managership.

Feller In Test Today

His Work to Decide Success Of Indians' First Eastern Invasion.

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians today placed on young Bob Feller's shoulders the decision whether their first eastern trip will be classed as a success or failure.

The ace fireballer was nominated to face the Yankees in the finale of a two-game series. Monte Pearson was due for New York. The Indians walloped the New Yorkers, 10 to 4, yesterday to show four victories in their seven games on the jaunt.

* * *

The veteran Al Smith, discarded by the New York Giants, stopped the Yankees to put the Indians back in second place and drop the champions into the tail-end spot. He limited the Yanks to nine hits in eight innings, giving way to Al Milnar in the ninth.

* * *

The Indians pounded Marvin Breuer and Atley Donald for 14 blows, including two homers by Hal Trosky and one by Rollie Hemsley.

The champions picked up a run in the first on a walk, a balk and Joe DiMaggio's single and added the other three in the eighth as Joe Gordon homered following a single and a hit batsman.

Trosky's first home run opened scoring for Cleveland in the fourth. The Redskins added three the next inning on a walk to Smith, a single by Roy Weatherly and Trosky's second four-base blow.

Breuer was routed in the four-run attack in the sixth. Singles by Ray Mack, Smith, Weatherly and Ben Chapman, a double by Lou Boudreau and two walks plated the runs.

* * *

Hemsley's homer added another tally in the seventh with Chapman counting on a double steal to close scoring in the eighth.

* * *

Boudreau's double brought his season total to 10, allowing him to retain the American league lead.

DECREASES DANGER

BRAVES SIGN GRAHAM; RELEASE ROY LUSTER

Roy Luster, righthand pitcher, of Chicago, was released today by the Mansfield Braves baseball club. Luster played in the Mountain State league last season.

Joe C. Hartline, Mansfield Braves president, announced today that the club had signed Lloyd Graham, an outfielder, who hails from California. Graham bats and throws from the right side. He is expected to break into the lineup this week.

FRANKIE PYTLAK REPORTS, WORKS OUT WITH INDIANS

NEW YORK — (AP) — Frank Pytlak reported to the Indians yesterday and went through a brisk workout before the Cleveland-New York game. He had been a holdout.

The little catcher said he was in excellent condition as a result of "secret practice."

BREWERS WIN DECISION OVER COLUMBUS BIRDS

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — Although yesterday was an open date for all American association teams, Milwaukee and Columbus got together to play off a postponed game. Milwaukee's revised batting lineup was outhit by the tail enders, but clicked well enough in the pinches to gain a 7 to 6 decision.

Heroes and Goats

(By International News Service)

HEROES—Hal Trosky, Indian first baseman, whose 6th and 7th homers helped beat the Yanks; Babe Young, Giants' first baseman, whose four straight hits helped wallop the Pirates.

GOATS—Paul Derringer, Reds' pitcher, who was driven from the box by the lowly Bees. Clyde Smoll, Phillv pitcher, who failed to last one inning against the Cardinals.

ONE-ARM CAPTAIN

IOWA CITY, Iowa — (AP) — Bob Sandler, who has only one arm, is captain of the University of Iowa tennis team.

Castoffs Come Back to Haunt Reds and Give Bees Victory

CINCINNATI — (AP) — The main trouble with Boston's Bees this year, from a Cincinnati standpoint, is that they have a lot of Red cast-offs who are expert "ha'nts."

* * *

They chased Manager Bill McKechnie's ace, Paul Derringer, to the showers yesterday and aim to try the same today on the other ace, Bucky Walters. Lefty Joe Sullivan, late of the American league, is the Boston pitcher.

* * *

The ex-Reds who came back to haunt the team and give the Bees yesterday's 10-4 victory are Bill Posedel, who held Cincinnati easily after a shaky start, and Tony Cuccinello, Eddie Miller and Les Scarsella.

First Baseman Les, who still would be riding the bench for the Reds, was the anchor man in four double plays.

The Bees stood not on formalities in winning the game. They had four runs on a triple, a fly, a walk, two singles, and a double before the fans sat down.

Although the Reds took three of the runs back in their half of the first on Werber's double, Scarsella's fumble, Frank McCormick's fluke triple, and Ernie Lombardi's single, it was not Derringer's day to win.

* * *

After Miller's homer in the fourth, the Bees blasted out five more runs for the ball game in the fifth. Whitey Moore had no better luck than Derringer and Rookie Johnny Hutchings finished the game.

* * *

BILL STEWART IS SENIOR LOOP 'NO-HIT' UMPIRE

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Bill Stewart shouldn't have much trouble winning an unanimous nomination for umpire-who-knows-most-about-National-league-no-hitters.

Stewart was behind the bat in the last two no-hitters pitched in the senior loop. Most recent was Tex Carleton's effort for the Dodgers against Cincinnati. Stewart also worked behind the bat the night Johnny Vander Meer of the Reds upset the Dodgers for his second straight no-hitter back in 1938.

RIZZO GOES TO CINCY, HOPES TO MAKE GOOD

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Johnny Rizzo, swapped by the Pirates for Vince DiMaggio of the Cincinnati Reds, was off to his new team today with the hope he will turn over a new leaf.

Heading for Cincinnati, Rizzo said he just "couldn't get going after the season opened" and expressed confidence "the change will do me good."

CHAPTER IV

Of his background, as he had told Brooke once in his calm, unconcerned manner, there was little to tell. The third son of a Virginia farmer, he had gone west to college and come to New York to work. He liked football, symphonies, the French language, Shakespeare, brunettes and sleep. His mother had died and the second son, with a shrewish wife Jim couldn't tolerate, had come to the farm to live. He wrote to his father regularly, sent him money he could ill afford, remembered innumerable Virginia relatives at Christmas and went to the farm once every summer. Concerning Jim and girls, Rod had said once, "Poor Jim hasn't much taste in women. He was in love once but she married somebody else. I don't think he's ever got over it."

He took Brooke's hand, grinned and said, "Is it Saturday—or am I wrong? You look swell."

"Thank you—and it's Friday and I've come to stay."

"That is great news! When is it taking place?"

She colored. He thought that she and Rod were going to be married . . .

"Oh!"

* * *

In the taxi she told him about Mrs. Kingsbury's offer and her quick acceptance When she mentioned Rod and tried to make her remarks about the new apartment casual, Jim looked away. She knew then that in whatever had passed between the two men Jim had been hurt.

The small inexpensive restaurant was crowded and noisy Jim spoke to the proprietor, a swarthy grinning little man, to his wife who had once been beautiful, and to their daughter, a waitress who would never be beautiful When an order for spaghetti and wine sent the girl away, Jim lighted a cigaret and looked across the table and through the smoke at Brooke.

"I guess Rod told you . . ."

Wishing that the place were less crowded and noisy, she nodded "He told me a little, Jim"

"It isn't that I objected to his leaving. I minded, of course. But I sort of expected it sometime.' Frowning, he looked down and knocked the ash from his cigaret. "I got sore at him for what's happening to him Can't you see it, Brooke?"

"He's always been ambitious, Jim. He's always wanted the best I've encouraged him and I understand what he is trying to do."

He glanced up "At the expense of you and his mother? You've both given him every break, been entirely unselfish. It's time now he did something for you." His slow smile again . . ." You can tell me it isn't any of my affair if you want to . . ."

"You are his oldest friend and it is your affair what's happening to him. Oh, Jim, I hated to see this happen between you two. It's my affair to straighten it out. It's a difference in viewpoints, mainly You have different goals, pleasures, preferences."

"You could think I was jealous of Rod."

"But knowing you, I know you aren't."

He chuckled "You mean I'm a lazy, satisfied cuss who'll never amount to much. I guess I am. But I do some of the things I like to do, and I don't much care what the other fellow thinks of me. I have fun in my own way I couldn't stand the responsibility of the other people's big expectations of me."

* * *

Shall I tell him that at times I'm frightened and disappointed, she thought No not yet It would be unfair to Rod If ever she had to lower her colors she knew that she could turn to him—if she needed him . . .

When the spaghetti and wine came, he said, "I hope you'll let me know when Rod is working and we'll do this often"

She did not say, "Perhaps some night the three of us again," feeling certain that the friendship of two boys who had shared the same room since their freshman year had come to an end. Had she been alone then, she would have cried Instead she asked him to pass the cheese, asked him about his work and whether he had bought any new symphonies recently to add to his collection.

There was only a low murmur of voices when the waitress came for their plates and Jim lighted another cigaret

"Is there any good reason why you can't come up to the apartment and listen to my latest symphony, Brooke?"

She laughed. "Of course there isn't. A perfect evening."

* * *

As soon as she entered the poorly illuminated, untidy room furnished with old, dusty furniture, she took off her hat and coat and gloves and sat on the lumpy sofa Jim picked up several days' collection of newspapers from one chair, a shirt from another, and carried them to the kitchen, along with a very much cluttered ash tray When he came back, he turned on a lamp beside an old phonograph, looking over his records and put on one Then, sitting beside Brooke he crossed his long legs filled his pipe, lighted it and listened with rapt attention to Beethoven.

They did not speak until it was over. Then Jim got up, went to look over his records, changed his mind and turned about. He said simply, "Brooke . . ."

His expression of unhappiness startled her.

"What is it Jim?"

"Brooke, I don't know whether to tell you or not It's been going through my mind all day . . ."

"Something about Rod?"

"You're bound to know. And I damn it I don't know whether to prepare you or say nothing hoping . . ."

"You mean Rod and—and some girl don't you?" There was nothing else to guess . .

"She isn't a girl. She's a woman years older than Rod and as rich as hell I feel like a . . ."

* * *

Irene Davies.

"No Go on. Tell me" Brooke's throat felt constricted

Jim came over and sat beside her "Her name is Irene Davies Mrs Davies. She's divorced Her divorced husband's name may not mean anything to you but in business it means millions I don't know much about her except that obviously she's accepted everywhere gives parties on the grand scale, has houses here and abroad and Well, Rod met her at Barney Glass's and she's been telephoning him ever since."

His voice was gentler when he spoke again, looking into her pale, shocked face. "Oh, it's probably nothing to worry about, I guess. But Irene Davies is a clever woman from what I hear and you'd better be on your guard if you meet her . ."

Would she meet her tomorrow?

"What is she like, Jim?"

"I've never seen her Rod had a picture of her taken in St Moritz a couple of years ago. She isn't pretty but she's—what do you say—chic? She's small and dark and sharp-featured, with good teeth." After a moment he said, "I'm not saying Rod's in love with her, because I don't know. He knew I didn't approve of it so he didn't tell me much Naturally he didn't bring her here"

"You mustn't try to make it easy for me I want to know the truth, Jim."

"I know he isn't in love with her. He's in love with you. She isn't the first woman to chase him. Rod's a good-looking guy, Brooke. But this woman has a couple million dollars. And this is the truth, too He's been in love with you ever since I've known him, and he was chased plenty in college The very close attachment between you two is something I—I haven't seen often Brooke. He's one of the most moral men I've ever known, too Clean and wholesome We used to kid him about it out at school He's one-tracked, be a success, marry Brooke, take care of my mother. He never thought of anything else But something's happened to him in the last six months and he's thinking beyond his measure, spending beyond his income. And he's always been tight, had to be in school. You can't make a million dollars but you can marry it"

Though it hurt, she said, "Perhaps he's outgrown all of us. . "

"That's ridiculous. He's only slightly above average. He took honors in school because he studied while the rest of us loafed or played, and he's gone ahead in business because he's dependable He's worked like a dog, and he's produced"

He lowered his voice when he said "And Irene Davies wants him because he's good-looking and he's the freshest, cleanest-cut man she's seen in more years than she cares to remember and because, up to now, he hasn't been easy to get."

"How old is she?"

His smile was crooked "I doubt if any one knows—or even if she remembers any more."

* * *

At least I'm young, Brooke thought That thought relieved the tension for a moment. Then, because Jim looked guilty and miserable, she said, "Don't censure yourself for telling me. I'm glad you did If I see some one small and chic tomorrow afternoon at Barney Glass's, I'll know it's she and try to be prepared for her" She nodded "Yes, I'm going there tomorrow afternoon with Rod"

Suddenly the inner tension increased violently. Had Rod really worked tonight? She despised herself for doubting, for thinking that perhaps at this very moment he was somewhere with some one "small and dark and sharp-features, with good teeth." But no doubt her mental picture of Mrs Davies was wrong. Tension relaxed. A dull ache sickened her when she thought that after tonight, when he made excuses for not seeing her, she would visualize him with Irene Davies, knowing that he had lied to be with her.

Jim said, "Damn it I've made you unhappy Why didn't I keep it to myself?"

Yes, why didn't you? she thought She said, "It's all right Play another record and then I must go."

Next he put on a Strauss waltz Less than an hour later she said good night to Jim quite cheerfully beside the elevator, and promised to call him when she was settled with Mrs. Kingsbury next week

In her room, she took off her things slowly and sank into a chair, her mind a bedlam—music, Jim's words, the mental picture of a woman she had never seen. It was all slightly unreal But no, on the contrary, yesterday and today had shaken her to reality. The idyll in New Hampshire of a girl who had loved and waited and written letters and dreamed was visionary Now she knew that she would never know the comfort of that unreality again

OLD VIADUCT ON MULBERRY GETS 'FACE LIFTING'

Weakened Supports on 30-Year-Old Structure to Receive Strengthening.

Weakened by 30 years of wear, South Mulberry street viaduct will be put back into a condition satisfactory to safety standards within the next few weeks.

Through an appropriation of $500 the city plans to strengthen the structure and prevent any possible chance of weakening the supports.

City Engineer W. C. Statler said today that flooring of the bridge had loosened to such an extent that it threatened viaduct supports if repair was not made immediately.

The sub-flooring of the structure across Ritter's Run, he explained, had loosened from wear and the severe frost damage and that the asphalt surface was already beginning to show strains of the damage.

The constant flow of vehicular traffic, Statler said caused a wave in the thrust supports which placed a constant strain on the main supports and made immediate tightening of the flooring necessary.

Plans Experiment.

The city plans to experiment on the project by placing stirrups around the beams forming the base for the floor, and bolting the wooden plank to the steel cross members.

The job is expected to be started sometime this month and will take about 30 days to complete. The work requires the drilling of the sub-flooring to sink the huge bolts in place.

Funds for the project were appropriated by city council which authorized the $500 to save the structure from replacement by delayed repairs.

Statler said the bridge would have to be resurfaced within the next couple years and estimated that the project would cost another $1.000.

Don't Suffer PERIODIC PAINS

Try This Way For Relief

Mrs. Cora Davis writes: "Functional periodic pains caused me so much misery that I was weak and nervous. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for a while, was relieved of the pain, and gained strength."

FOR over 70 years, countless thousands of women, who suffered functional monthly pains, have taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription over a period of time—and have been overjoyed to find that this famous remedy has helped them ward off such monthly discomforts.

Most amazing, this scientific remedy, formulated by a practicing physician, is guaranteed to contain no harmful drugs—no narcotics. In a scientific way, it improves nutritional assimilation; helps build you up and so increases your resistance and fortifies you against functional pain. Lessens nervousness during this trying period.

Lexington Seniors to Give Comedy

WANTS TO VOTE

Tent Resident Has Hard Time Establishing Residence.

LANCASTER—(AP)—Tom Martin would like to know where he can vote this presidential election year.

Because he moves about in the canning period, he is at home in his tent near the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad water tower only part of the year—and then not long enough to establish residence.

Tom says his domicile is one Fairfield county home the census takers overlooked. In fact, he nearly lost track of it himself in the recent April flood. His bed "springs" are twigs piled crosswise; his bedding, oiled paper, burlap sacks and old clothes. He lives on fried potatoes, bread and jelly.

DIVORCE GRANTED

ASHLAND—Decree of divorce has been granted in common pleas court here to Chester T. Smalley from Janice K. Smalley, after the defendant was adjudged guilty of gross neglect of duty. The defendant was given custody of the couple's one child.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PARTY STAGED BY LUCAS HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

A color scheme of blue and gold enhanced the attractiveness of the scene laid in the Lucas school auditorium as the banqueters "buried the hatchet" of inter-class rivalry in one of the jolliest social affairs of the season.

Maxine Mitchell, junior toastmistress, presided. Speaking in behalf of the juniors, William Query, officially welcomed the seniors, while Richard McFarland, senior president, responded for the guests.

Brief addresses were made by Supt. V. Leland Gilliland and by Prof. W. S. Barger.

Scholarship awards were presented to Don Page Leiter, Louise Sprang, Richard McFarland and Gene Darling by Supt. Gilliland.

Several numbers by a quartet, a vocal solo by Prof. Don Parfitt, and a piano solo by Eileen Matuck were musical features.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, MAY 9, 1940.

In spite of all the boasted progress, political speeches sound much the same as those of the horse-and-buggy days.

Harvard students are credited with steadily improving in scholarship—but, under such a handicap, what's to be done about football?

Autobiographically speaking. Ely Culbertson describes himself as seven different individuals, which may explain the intricacies of his bridge system.

Some Cities Prefer Enforcement

AN INTERESTING slant on Mansfield's traffic conditions is seen in differences of opinion as to the need for "stop-and-go" lights at residential street intersections.

Frequency of collisions at a number of these intersections was responsible for requests for a number of additional traffic lights several years ago and there has been an inclination, among some people, to regard these lights as a substitute for police enforcement of traffic regulations.

The extent to which traffic lights are ignored, however, and the impudence with which many motorists "go through on the red," indicates that even an overabundance of traffic lights will not solve the problem which grows out of excessive speed and reckless driving in residential sections of the city.

At the First street and Sturges avenue intersection, for instance, as well as at Harker and Mulberry, the permitted maximum speed on any of these thoroughfares is 25 miles an hour, and with careful approach to these intersections and observance of stop signs, there would be no more need for traffic lights at these points than at dozens of other intersections in residential parts of the city.

When it is remembered that each of these traffic lights represents an expenditure of $300 or more, and that there is the additional cost of current and maintenance, it may explain why some other cities have found it more satisfactory to keep traffic lights to a minimum and consistently enforce traffic regulations.

If dependence is to be placed in traffic lights there will be requirement for many more than there are now.

Loyalty Is Good Business

FROM Edgar Howard, editor of the Columbus (Neb.) Telegram, comes a vivid little article which tells of the "Booster League," made up of employes of the Union Pacific railroad, with every worker holding membership. The theme of the article is that "Loyalty between employe and employer is simply good business."

"Every member of that league," writes Mr. Howard, "is a volunteer—a fighting volunteer—not a fighter against anything or anybody, but always a fighter for his employer. . . . Today, from section man to president, each employe has regard for the other. There are no strikes. When an employe has a grievance he does not attempt harm to any official of the road. He carries his complaint to his brotherhood's grievance committee, the committee carries it to the proper official, and the trouble is adjusted. And here comes proof of the value of preaching the good gospel of loyalty."

Contrast that spirit with the destructive spirit of those who preach strike, sabotage, disorder. When men get together to amicably discuss and adjust differences, all involved benefit. The company for which they work goes ahead, making their jobs secure. There is no loss of pay caused by unnecessary lay-offs. There is no feeling of bitterness and ill will. Loyalty is good business—the kind of business that makes for progress and prosperity and stability in a business or a nation.

Forest Fire Foresight

USE of weather forecasts in the prevention of forest fires is a plan now followed in some places with considerable success. In Rhode Island, for example, wind velocity and the amount of dampness in the forests are carefully checked and reported daily to the weather bureau at Boston.

The weather bureau then sends out warnings if it is a day of great fire hazard. Instead of waiting for a blazing fire to be discovered and then sending crews to stop it, the CCC groups engaged in forestry get busy at once. All leaves are canceled. Two fire crews are stationed at each camp and other crews are held, fully equipped, within ten minutes' distance of their base. Patrols keep watch and any little fire that is started anywhere is usually found and put out before it makes headway.

The weather bureau has a number of classifications for days with varying degrees of fire hazard, and measures adapted to the need are followed in each case. State patrols and the Timber Salvage Association co-operate with the CCC in this.

Expansion Aims Are Germanic

REPORTS from various sources indicate that Hitler and his Nazis really have the loyalty of less than half the German people. Some of the latest estimates say about 40 per cent.

How do they stay in power then? There is a double reason. First, the government is too strong for unorganized rebels to overthrow. Second, where political loyalty is lacking there is military loyalty, which would prevent a rebellion, especially in wartime.

"The important thing," says the veteran war correspondent, Melvin K. Whiteleather, "is that the German people are putting their shoulders to the wheel during this war because loyalty to the army and ambition for military expansion are Germanic, not Nazi.

"There will be no revolution in Germany until the army has its back to the wall, and such a revolution will come from the top, not from the people."

Style In Working Clothes

CLOTHING manufacturers say now they're going to put style into working clothes. That would be a fine thing in the more cleanly occupations. And with improvements in machinery, factory cleanliness and ventilation, smoke consumption, automatic disposal of rubbish, and so on, it is surprising how neatness invades industrial areas. There are hundreds of mechanical jobs now that could be operated by workers in their "Sunday clothes."

So blue jeans may take on rainbow colors and give way to cloth of finer texture. And this on the farms as well as in the factories. Farmers may appear in togs as nifty and colorful as those of golf players.

We take issue with good old Anonymous—the fellow who used to write so much poetry?

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Uncle Sam's getting testy about his military secrets these day, even to the extent of barring foreign military attaches stationed in Washington from the United States Army's sham war ground in Louisiana and Texas.

The official reason why gold embossed invitations are NOT going out to gold-braided, eagle-eyed observers of foreign governments is because there will be "insufficient accommodation."

Insufficient accommodation, my eye.

The truth is that a military attache whatever country he is serving—and that means us, too— is oftentimes a glorified if LEGAL spy. It's part of his job to ferret out facts without appearing to do so.

For instance, our military attaches in Poland gathered much material and information about blitzkrieg last year.

For in Poland a modern war machine was in action against a more or less old style army. What did it do? Did it bog down anywhere? Did it leak blood or gasoline?

One thing they determined was that the German machine did not encounter any wet going. That's important. That's the one thing a modern blitzkrieg hasn't yet met —wet going.

* * *

We'll Try Swamp War.

SO IT is significant that our May maneuvers are being held in swamp country at its wettest, swamp country in the spring. Uncle Sam's army is going to find out without benefit of foreign visitors.

Of course, the visiting military and naval attaches never violate etiquette by going into forbidden zones. Wherever they go, they go by invitation. But they have been known to show up ahead of time, before secret gear could be stowed away. A mistake. Misread the invitation, etc.

These attaches often use their wits far away from military zones. For instance, one of the best of our military secrets leaked out a few years ago when foreign attaches viewed the movie, "Hell Divers." Even though a naval censor had blacked out the landing deck of an aircraft carrier appearing in the picture, the attaches saw enough to guess Uncle Sam was miles ahead of other nations in taking off and landing planes from carriers.

It was only a matter of weeks until British aircraft carriers had hydraulic machinery and tripping cables on the decks of their aircraft carriers.

* * *

Got Even With British.

AND I hope I'm not going too far, when I disclose the fact that it was again a matter of weeks until Uncle Sam's own naval attaches aboard a British carrier on parade day, discovered a British refinement of our tripping device. Soon our navy had taken all its hydraulic apparatus off the landing decks of our carriers and fastened it to the side of the vessel, out of the way.

So it is not surprising to discover that Captain Robert M. Losey of the United States army was standing in a tunnel mouth observing military aviation in Norway when he was killed recently.

Captain Losey was sent to Dombas, Norway, to help take out American women and children. But he also had his eye peeled for military news worthy of the attention of Washingon. American military attaches have a world wide reputation for seeing well.

And so it is that Uncle Sam figures that the military attaches of other nations may be able to see well, too. He doesn't want them to see our .50 calibre machine gun down in Louisiana. And a few other little devices.

And so he's getting testy. Of course, there's plenty of room for any American Tom, Dick or Harry. But the accommodations are simply not Waldorf-enough for distinguished foreign visitors.

"Defeatism"—The Deadliest Disease.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THERE'S a disease raging through America these days which is rapidly assuming epidemic proportions. It's more vicious than the devastating "hoof-and-mouth" plague; in fact, I suspect it may be a variation of the same blight since it certainly affects the same parts—and how! I refer to that aspect of human oneriness which the psychologists call "Defeatism."

There's nothing new about Defeatism. Grandma didn't have the name for it, but she knew its every symptom, for cowards, meanies and loafers have made a racket of Defeatism since the world began.

Defeatism doesn't mean that you've tried and been licked. It means that you haven't tried—and don't intend to—but are collecting a lot of profit by going around and licking your wounds before you have any.

A Defeatist isn't sorry because he hasn't won out. He'd be mad as hops if he did, for Failure is his dish. Bad Breaks and The Blues are his favorite theme songs.

You can't insult Defeatists—or shame them. Suffering, as I've said before, is their Racket . . . and their permanent alibi for Being Bums. If they couldn't be Victims they'd have to get out and hustle. Which is the last thing any Defeatist desires to do.

Why is a Defeatist? The answer is simple. A Defeatist is a Defeatist because he doesn't want to be aDo-er. He prefers Quitting before he starts . . .then lying around and accepting public pity for the rest of his—or her—natural life.

There have always been Defeatists. You could see them at every saloon corner in the old days . . . you could listen to them at every Wednesday prayer meeting. To hear them tell it, usually between hiccoughs, they were all Great Souls who had Never Had a Chance. Somebody had blocked their way . . . trumped their aces . . . done them dirt. And so, Heaven help 'em, they were trying to bear it all with a brave smile, even though their hearts were broken.

Which was obviously phooey—and you could laugh it off when it came from the town Bar Fly. But it isn't so funny today for that once comic wheeze has spread from the Bar Flies to the Youth of America . . . to those who should be eager and reckless and bent on adventure. Yet thousands of these youngsters, in lieu of adventure, prefer to loll on the living room davenport and warble the same old defeatist song, "Life's Done Me Wrong!"

Has life really done them wrong? No! Life never does anyone wrong. For the simple reason that we make our own lives—and determine our own RIGHTS or WRONGS.

Life is as you take it . . . Luck is what you make it.

If you want to be a Defeatist—and collect dividends on your cowardice and laziness—you can have it that way. But if you want to be a Conqueror, you face an open trail, with darn little competition.

The deadliest thing . . . the most damnable thing . . . that Depression ever brought in its wake was this cult of Defeatism. As a matter of cold fact, American Youth, and many an Oldster, never had such recognition—nor such a break as they're getting today. Sometimes I wonder if they're not getting too much service. Maybe a good kick-in-the-pants, such as we oldsters received in our youth, would bring far healthier and happier results.

Be that as it may, you can judge any Loserer by his yelp. If he's a Real Guy, he'll be shouting for a Chance—and taking anything that comes. But if he isn't—he'll be making a racket of Defeat. And cashing in on the sympathizing tears. Particularly Mama's. Or the Dear (but Dumb) Little Woman's. Which is a hint to a lot of you Suffering Sisters. And I advise you to use it.

Timely Editorial

Much Too Candid.

A widely read monthly magazine, given to pictures in large numbers, announces that it is dropping its department on candid camera photography with the current issue. It reports that the trend is back to the Art Form, in which the subject is aware of what is going on and can prepare for it. It is a development that could have been foreseen.

Skeptics have long been saying that if, as the poet pleaded, some power gave us the gift of seeing ourselves as others see us, we would be surprised. It turned out worse than that. We were appalled. Public dignitaries, once caught shoveling $5 food into their mouths at banquets, have been camera shy ever since. The enlarged pore school of photography has robbed many a once-thrilling countenance of its old allure. We have never felt the sorrow about a glamour girl all a spy behind a palm had ambushed her picking her teeth with a fork or sporting freckles as large as dimes in one of those close shots.—Detroit News.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Sometimes Jack Benny's broadcasts are even funnier to look at than they are to hear. The reason for this is a half hour of unprogrammed foolishness that takes place just before the show goes on the air. This is the conditioning period, during which the principals run up and down the sidelines "warming up" and getting the "feel" of the house. They have to do this for the same reason that a pugilist shadow boxes and flexes his muscles before climbing into a ring. If they didn't they would go in "cold," and perhaps off balance.

Benny is a study in well-practiced nonchalance during this period. He strolls about, wisecracking with people in the audience, pausing occasionally to render a "sonata" on his fiddle. Showers of coins fell at his feet when these impromptu renditions were given in New York. Benny calmly pocketed the change and said, "Thanks pals."

* * *

THERE is at all times just the right amount of happy confusion to be observed—Phil Harris arranging or passing out music, Don Wilson seeing that everyone has a script, Dennis Day sitting down and then getting up and crossing the stage to try a more comfortable chair, Rochester, the gravel-voiced guardian of "Carmichael," remains out of sight. This is smart showmanship, because the audience is wondering where he is, and what he looks like. It is a slick build-up for an important character. Finally, when he is called forth to take a bow, the audience fairly screams. Rochester has a good comedy bit for this introduction. He sweeps into view and bows very low, almost to the floor, to Benny, who in turn bows just as solemnly to Rochester. Don Wilson also bows to Rochester, but Rochester snubs him, sweeping off-stage with his head in the rafters. This is good for a tremendous exhibition of feet-stomping by the audience.

Frequently, as you listen by the radio, the cast itself appears to be engulfed with laughter at its own miscues or shortcomings. These sessions are not faked. Don Wilson may read a line backward. Jack may muff a gag. Phil Harris may confuse Mary Livingston with Dennis Day. When this happens everyone on stage breaks down. It is a situation conducive to hysterics, and the audience can no more escape the general hilarity than the actors themselves.

* * *

SEEING Dennis Day, the embarrassed young tenor who always says "Yes, please?" when "mister" Benny speaks to him, makes you realize what a mighty big difference just a few breaks and a little time can make. A year or so ago he was singing on a minor local radio station, and absolutely nobody seemed to care. I'll bet most of you have pictured Dennis as a blond. You're wrong. He is slight and thin, and black-haired, and not too tall.

Rochester's amazing popularity focuses attention on that small but growing company of Negro entertainers on the stage, and in radio and the films who are proving their worth and establishing themselves as credits in their professions as well as their race. There are quite a number of them of late. Watch for a boy named Nicodemus in "Louisiana Purchase." There is Maxine Sullivan, who isn't new but she is certainly young, and she has been riding high since she first took the low road to Loch Lomond. You could name any number of youngsters like these who are following the trail so carefully blazed by Bill Robinson, Ethel Waters and others who have done more to help their kind than the pronouncements from a thousand pulpits.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"SS" on Legal Papers.

Survival of the days when legal documents in England were written in Latin, S S is an abbreviation of scilicet, pronounced sil-i-set and accented on the first syllable.

Deriving from two Latin words, scire to know and licet, it is permitted, scilicet signified literally "It is permitted to know" and was generally understood to have the sense of "to wit" or "namely."

The function of scilicet, in legal documents of today, is various, vague—and moot.

Sometimes it identifies the court having jurisdiction of the cause of action: at other times it means generally, "that is to say," with explanatory matter following; and on still other occasions it indicates summons.

Call it an old Roman custom.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The president ran into an unexpected hornets' nest when he broke the news privately to Representative Vinson and Senator Walsh, chairmen of the house and senate naval committees, that he intended to veto the navy personnel bill.

This bill was designed to rid the higher ranks of deadwood and also to retain in the service eight of the navy's ablest flyers, slated for retirement largely because they are not Annapolis graduates. The bill encountered tremendous opposition from the brass hats, who when defeated in congress, turned to the White House—with better luck.

Apparently figuring he had a selling job to do, Roosevelt summoned Vinson and Walsh and told them he was going to ax the bill.

Walsh promptly protested, quietly told the president he was making a mistake. Roosevelt expected this, since the Massachusetts senator is no friend of the brass hats, does his own thinking on naval matters. The big surprise came from Vinson.

The Georgia congressman is generally considered a close ally of the navy high command, but this time he hit the ceiling. "You can't do that, Mr. President," he exclaimed. "That isn't right."

The president tried to soothe him by arguing that everything proposed in the bill would be done anyway. Ten, and possibly eleven, admirals will be retired and the eight crack pilots would be retained on active duty.

* * *

Congress vs. Navy.

BUT the question isn't whether you will do these things without this bill, Mr. President," shot back Vinson. "The question goes much deeper than that. It is whether congress or the brass hats shall do the legislating for the navy. It has always been my understanding that it was congress, elected by the people, which had this power. But apparently I was wrong and it's the brass hats who decide navy policies."

Controlling his temper, though clearly irked by this blast, Roosevelt protested that he was not trying to flout the will of congress. He insisted that there was a "better way" to handle the matters covered by the bill.

"I disagree with you," retorted Vinson. "It was the judgment of congress that these things should be done, and if they are right, then what's wrong with legislating on them? Furthermore, I would point out to you that we spent almost two years getting this vital bill through congress. Now all our time and efforts are wasted simply because you choose to be guided by the admirals instead of by congress."

After this fusillade the president made still another attempt to soothe Vinson, but the Georgian rose and started for the door with this parting shot: "I still expect you to stand by us, Mr. President. Don't let us down. We're your real friends."

Note—One of the admirals slated by Roosevelt for retirement is Rear Admiral Joseph Taussig, whose "war with Japan is inevitable" statement was officially repudiated.

Glass of Virginia.

AFTER The Washington Merry-Go-Round broke the news that spry widower Carter Glass might marry again, a press association reporter telephoned the Virginian.

"Senator," he began cautiously, "I'm going to ask you an impertinent question."

"What is it?"

"Is it true you are going to remarry?"

"Young man, that certainly is impertinent," barked Glass, and hung up.

Norwegian Nazis.

NOT much of it got beyond the censors, but confidential reports to U. S. officials showed that there was almost as much Norwegian resentment against the Allies as against the Germans.

This was because of skilful Nazi propaganda. Norway was deluged with pamphlets and dinned with radio broadcasts to the effect that the British had been just about to invade Norway. In other words the Nazis had come merely to head off the British.

This effect on Norwegian opinion was one of the chief reasons for the full dress press conference in Berlin at which Foreign Minister Ribbentrop issued a White Paper alleging that the British had everything cooked up to plunge into Norway.

John L. Lewis.

THE Amalgamated Clothing Workers, second largest union in the CIO and strongly pro-Roosevelt, holds its annual convention this month. Sidney Hillman, smart ACWU head, is returning the United Mine Workers' compliment of inviting him to address their Columbus convention, and has asked John L. Lewis to address the Clothing Workers.

Lewis accepted. Whereupon Hillman, with a broad grin, inquired, "John, when would you prefer to make your speech—before or after we pass a third term resolution?"

Lewis laughed, replied that he would leave it up to Hillman.

Note—Despite Lewis' hot blasts against a third term, he has told a number of CIO leaders that his statements did not mean he would oppose Roosevelt if he runs.

Stock Market Governors.

THE elevation of able, Vice Chairman Charles E. Harding to be chairman of the board of governors of the New York Stock Exchange will mean no change in the presidency of the "big board." Contrary to reports, young President William McC. Martin will continue in that post.

Like Board Chairman E. E. Bartlett, whom he succeeds, Harding is a strong supporter of Martin and favors a public-minded administration of the Exchange. Harding was nominated after Bartlett declined to run for re-election. As chairman and vice chairman, the two men worked closely together, also with Martin and the SEC.

Capital Chaff.

PRESIDENTIAL candidates Hanford MacNider of Iowa and Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire have worked out an agreement to stick together during the Republican national convention. Each controls a small bloc of votes, and they have sworn a pact not to surrender them until the other fellow is taken care of. . . . Bridges wants to be taken care of for the vice presidency, while MacNider wants to be secretary of war. (He was once assistant war secretary under Coolidge). . . . The A. F. of L. will demand a plank from both political parties that there will be no more anti-trust prosecution of labor unions. AFL leaders are about ready to line up for Roosevelt if trust-busting Thurman Arnold is given the gate.

In Municipal Court

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE hard-surfaced road makes a great loop and a country by-road cuts straight across, and hits it again at the other side. I was in a hurry, and took the shortcut. That decision cost me plenty.

I passed another car that was moving slow and paused at the junction, where the view is clear both ways, but when no other car was in sight, I drove on past the yellow Stop sign, onto the concrete highway.

A patrolman waited for me, his motorcycle concealed near some bushes. He stopped me and inquired whether I wished to have the crate of eggs broken. I answered, "No."

"Didn't you see that Stop sign?" he demanded then.

"Well, yes," I admitted, "but nobody was coming, so I thought it unreasonable to stop dead."

He was very kind in speech and manner. He asked for my driver's license, which I handed over, and filled out a blank that I appear in municipal court at 9:30. He suggested, too, that the law has preference over all previous engagements.

At the appointed time, I arrived. I presented my credentials to a rotund uniformed policeman and he procured another chair and had me sit in a ring with 19 other offenders of the law. The little court room, about 40 feet square, had 60 interested curious spectators standing or sitting at the back.

The faces of the men about me were a study. Many were old, dissipated, friendless looking and discouraged. Thirteen of them, when their names were called, pleaded guilty of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Others were guilty of driving while intoxicated. I, like three others, pleaded guilty of disregarding a stop sign.

Court adjourned and those who could not pay their fines were placed in cells until the penalty could be liquidated. My heart ached for some whose lot was not as good as mine. I saw eyes wet with tears of despair. I secure my stock in a friendlier place than those cells beneath a great building—and speak to them more kindly.

"It's my first experience in being haled into court. "I told my friend the clerk as I paid my fine. He smiled as he graciously invited me back again.

COUNTY SEEKS $27,580 IN TAX FORECLOSURES

Offers 92 Properties for Sale at Sheriff's Auction to Obtain Back Levies.

Richland county will attempt to collect $27,850 in delinquent taxes Saturday at a sheriff's sale of 92 properties, but it has little hope of collecting all of that amount from the sales.

Officials explained that most of the lots are vacant and the back taxes on many of them amount to considerably more than their actual value.

Treasurer John E. Kolb said he will be pleased to get the lots in the hands of owners who will pay the taxes on them even if the county has to take a loss in the collection of taxes already due.

The largest judgment is against the Farmers Savings and Trust company as trustee for 78 lots in Coolridge Heights. Taxes on the properties amount to $24,987.

Another judgment for $1,915 due on nine lots in Mansfield is against Teresa Schwartz and others. The properties are on Superior, Barnes and Beethoven streets.

Five lots on Maumee avenue, Ohio street, East Park drive, and South Park boulevard will be offered Saturday for $678 in taxes and penalties. The properties are owned by Ione Slough and others, defendants in the court action which resulted in the sale.

SALT LAKE CITY—The community of Soldier Summit is a straddler—right across the Utah-Wasatch county line — and has suffered as a consequence.

Supervisor Heber Meeks said his checkers would visit both sides of the town before they quit.

Four Indicted In $20,000,000 Gas Company Swindle

FEDERAL JURY ACCUSES AGED COMPANY HEAD

Howard C. Hopson and Three Associates Charged With Fraud Through Mails.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—Howard C. Hopson and three associates in the billion-dollar Associated Gas system, which he formerly headed, were indicted by the federal grand jury today charged with a $20,000,000 swindle of 300,000 investors.

The indictment, accusing them of 18 counts of mail fraud and one of conspiracy, also alleged they defrauded the million or more Associated consumers by maintaining high rates through misrepresentation.

It was the most sensational case of its kind since that of Samuel Insull, the Chicago utilities king.

Indicted with Hopson, who built his mighty utilities firm out of the remnants of the Insull empire and is accused specifically of unlawful profits exceeding $20,000,000, were the following:

Charles H. Travis, an attorney for Associated, member of Travis, Brownback & Paxson; accused of drawing $1,000,000 over and above expenses as his share of the yearly amount paid to his law firm.

Garrett A. Brownback, also an Associated attorney and a member of the same legal firm as Travis; accused of drawing $500,000 as his share of the proceeds.

Frederick S. Burroughs, banker and since 1932 an Associated officer; charged with being instrumental in inducing Harris, Forbes & company, to act as investment bankers in selling the public more than $400,000,000 of Associated securities, most of which now are in default, and with receiving $500,000 salary in eight years.

If convicted the defendants would be liable to a maximum sentence of 92 years and a $28,000 fine each. The 18 counts of mail fraud each carry a five year penalty and $1,000 fine and the conspiracy count has an additional two years and $10,000 fine.

The defendants will be arraigned for pleading on May 14 in federal court.

Star's Marriage Disclosed After Divorce Sought

HOLLWOOD—(INS)— No one in Hollywood had ever guessed the lovely Greer Garson, who rose to fame as the schoolmaster's wife in "Goodbye Mr. Chips," was married and that her real name was Mrs. Edward Alec Snelson.

But the film colony knew it today, because Miss Garson divorced Snelson, a British civil service employe stationed in Nagpur, India, yesterday, charging cruelty and desertion. She filed the suit under the name of Eileen Evelyn G. Snelson some time ago, and none was the wiser until she made her court appearance.

Miss Garson testified she and Snelson were married in England in 1933, but soon began to quarrel.

"I found my husband a man of very violent temper," she told the court, "unreasonably jealous possessive, and with a streak of penuriousness that was most eccentric and often embarrassing."

GAS COMPANY HEARING SET

Mansfield Branch of Ohio Fuel Named in Complaint by CIO Union.

Hearing of charges made by the United Mine Workers-CIO that the Mansfield branch of the Ohio Fuel and Gas company discriminated against union members will open in the Richland county court house Monday, May 20, Oscar Smith, regional director of the NLRB, said today, (according to news dispatches from Cleveland).

District 20 of the union claimed the company discharged Alva Crunkilton on March 5, 1940, because he was a union member; that company supervisors persuaded employes not to join the union, and that the company ordered surveillance of union meetings, according to the complaint.

Company officials here could not be reached for a statement on the labor board order.

ROOSEVELT JOB LAUDED BY COX

Declares Administration Doing Well to Keep U. S. Out of European War.

(By Associated Press)

ATLANTA — James M. Cox, standard bearer for the Democrats in 1920, feels the present administration is doing a capital job of keeping the United States out of a war for which he holds this nation indirectly responsible.

Speaking last night at a dinner welcoming him as the new owner of the Atlanta Journal, the former Ohio governor found the "most unfortunate phase of our present political situation" in the continuing claims that the administration is trying to carry this nation into war."

An audience of 400 business and professional men and public officials heard Cox declare:

"We are living in days of such emergency that we certainly ought to be united in matters affecting our foreign relations.

"The president has handled the whole situation with rare skill and any charge to the contrary is born of captious criticism."

As to the background of the war, Cox asserted firmly, "I charge directly and plainly that the United States is responsible for (Adolf) Hitler."

He explained:

"If the reparations question had been settled in 1921 or 1922, the Republican form of government would have survived in Germany. International debts could have been liquidated and there would have been no foothold for Hitler.

"But the United States did not take the initiative, no settlement was reached and the resultant situation was made to order for Hitler."

He declared the United States "must make it clear to the agressor nations that it would be bad power politics as well as a injustice to attack us or to violate our Monroe Doctrine."

William J. Kennedy, one of seven candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said an analysis showed President Roosevelt's name in the 1936 election drew 300,000 more votes than the normal total. He pointed out his majority in being elected secretary of state then was 409,000, while no other candidate received a 300,000 majority.

"I cite this to prove I am not a coat-tail candidate," he added.

In Columbus the Franklin county Democratic executive committee decided to make no indorsement in the gubernatorial race.

John McSweeney of Wooster, a candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination, told a Massillon audience that, if nominated, he would demand that his Republican opponent submit a program to solve the problem of unemployment caused by machine displacement of workers.

"I will not tolerate criticism of the man (President Roosevelt) who has put 3,294,000 men to work in private industry," he said.

Townsend Candidate Vies For Florida Nomination.

JACKSONVILLE — (AP) — A run-off contest May 28 between United States Sen. Charles O. Andrews and Jerry W. Carter, Townsend-endorsed candidate, appeared likely today as late returns came in from Florida's Democratic primary.

In the 11-man race for governor it appeared that State Sen. Spessard L. Holland of Bartow and Francis Whitehair of Leland would enter the second primary.

GALION GIRL GETS GOLD KEY FOR WORK ON COLLEGE PAPER

GALION — Betty Strother of Galion, a senior at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, was recently presented with a gold key for her four years service as a member of the editorial staff of "The Miami Student," campus newspaper. She was one of three members of her class to be given this honor.

Since her high school days when Betty edited high school publications, she has been interested in journalism.

This year she has served as society editor for the campus newspaper at the university, her picture, same as above, appearing at the top of her column in the paper.

Every year since she has been at the university, Betty has received a different key for representation on the newspaper staff, the highest honor being the gold key which she received this year for having completed four years of service.

Betty's column this year represents part of her course in journalism at the school, and for this she has received an average grade of "A."

BETTY STROTHER

She is active in other campus affairs. As a member of the school's chapter of Delta Gamma, national social sorority, she is the chapter's correspondent to its national magazine, The Anchora.

While she has been a student at Miami, she has spent her summer vacations working on the staff of the Galion Inquirer.

The other two girls receiving gold keys were Elizabeth Snow of South Euclid, and Rhea Fristoe of Euclid.

NO LYNCHINGS

Modern South Sets Record During Past Year.

ATLANTA—(AP)—The modern south ended its first year without a lynching last midnight, and today a foe of mob rule credited this new record to effective education, plus swift work of police radio patrols.

Mrs. Jessie Daniel Ames, executive secretary of the Association of Southern Women for the Prevention of Lynching, said midnight marked the close of the first 12-month lynchless period since tabulations were started in 1882.

In contrast to this is the peak mark of 231 mob killings recorded in 1892.

Mrs. Ames said swift action made possible by police radio alarm systems, particularly as used by highly mobile state trooper units, was an efficient and relatively new technique in combatting mobs.

GARAND ARMY RIFLE STANDS TARGET TEST

U. S. Equipment Pronounced Highly Efficient In Demonstration.

(By International News Service)

FT. BELVOIR, Va.—The Garand army rifle, subject of a controversy among congressional leaders on military affairs, was pronounced highly efficient today after a three-hour demonstration in competition with the Johnson semi-automatic rifle.

Sen. Thomas (D) Okla., chairman of a senate appropriations sub-committee on arms requirements, and Sen. Lundeen (F. L.) Minn., who personally fired the two rifles, admitted there was very little difference and said they saw no reason for the army to change rifles at this time. The Garand rifle had been the subject of much criticism recently as to its accuracy.

Other members of military and spending committees of congress who witnessed the demonstration "under combat conditions" along with high ranking officials of the war department, and army officers, joined with Thomas and Lundeen in praising the gun.

"If the Garand rifle is as good as the other and we have the machinery set up for its production I see no reason to go into production on a second good gun," Thomas said after the demonstration.

Lundeen, a reserve officer in the national guard, and expert marksman, pronounced the Garand rifle "very fine" and made 16 bull's-eyes out of 16 shots at 300 yards. Lundeen then took the Johnson semi-automatic and made 12 bull's-eyes out of 12 shots at the same distance.

Scores posted by army teams alternating on the two rifles also failed to show any marked difference in the efficiency. They varied only with the marksmanship of the soldiers firing the gun.

FRANCHISE PLAN

Cleveland Railway Dispute Nears Settlement.

CLEVELAND—(INS)— The four-year-old franchise fight between the Cleveland Railway company and the city of Cleveland appeared to be near an end today after City Traction Commissioner Edward J. Schweid and Joseph C. Hostetler, special counsel for the company, announced a new franchise plan.

The plan was to be laid before the company's six-man executive committee today, and council's traction committee was to examine it in the near future. Council has yet to turn down a plan proposed by Schweid, and Hostetler had wide powers from the company.

Although technically in liquidation since the Tayler franchise expired four years ago, the company has continued to operate, purchase new equipment, and make plans for the future.

BARD POPULAR

Lima Students Seek Renewal Of Shakespeare Plays.

LIMA —(INS)— Shakespeare received a vote of confidence today from the younger generation.

Concluding that the Bard was no longer popular, the faculty at Bluffton college sought to substitute a modernistic pageant for the annual Shakespearean play at a spring festival.

But to the faculty's surprise, 75 per cent of the student body signed petitions which caused the substitute plan to be abandoned.

ISSUE REPORT

Visiting Nurses Assist In 157 Cases During April.

The Mansfield Visiting Nurses cared for 157 bedside cases during the month of April, according to their monthly report to the Community Fund.

The four staff nurses made 592 calls during the month, and attended at 12 births. Sixteen new pre-natal cases for care and advice were admitted.

DRAFT SUMMER YMCA PROGRAM

Directors Add Kittenball and Baseball Leagues to Activity Schedule.

An enlarged summer program for the Y. M. C. A. was approved by the board of directors at a meeting in the Evergreens cafeteria last night.

Submitted by Irl Fisher, chairman of the Boys' Work committee, and Charles Lake, chairman of the physical committee, the summer program includes the addition of kittenball and baseball leagues at Empire field on West Fourth street, and recreation parties in the gymnasium for Hi-Y clubs and their friends.

According to Ralph B. Chapman, general secretary, both kittenball and baseball will be played at the Empire field under supervision of the "Y" due to the lack of playground facilities in the city this summer.

The summer program will get under way June 10 with the opening of the "Y" Day camp on Home road. Camp activities will include hikes, outings, nature study, woodcraft and leathercraft. Activities at the buildings are to include volleyball, boxing, wrestling, barbell exercises, handball and swimming and life saving classes to be held in co-operation with the American Red Cross.

An odd job employment bureau for boys, the "Y" camp at Camp Nelson Dodd and the annual Hi-Y training camp are also included on the program. Schedules and dates for these activities will be set at a later date, according to Chapman.

Date Calendar for Conventions and Meetings Sought

A resolution seeking the formation of a "clearing house" for meeting and convention dates in Mansfield to avoid conflicts was passed last night by the Mansfield chapter of Symposiarchs, an organization of collegiate fraternity men, at a meeting at the Wonder Bar.

The resolution will be sent to the Chamber of Commerce with the request that it keep a calendar of meetings and conventions so club members will know before their scheduled meeting date whether there will be others the same night.

Herbert H. Sleugh talked on "Fire Prevention Week In Mansfield" and with Lydon Beam, president of the organization, conducted a forum session. The next meeting will be June 12.

JOIN FORCES TO CURB HIGHWAY TRASH DUMPING

State Patrol and Road Crews Gather Up 43 Truck Loads; Warn of Arrests.

Along with the city's annual spring clean-up and fire prevention campaign, the state highway department and highway patrol today joined in an effort to stop the dumping of rubbish along state roads.

Within the past few days state highway trucks have hauled away about 25 truck loads of rubbish picked up along two main highways in this vicinity, according to James McMillan, superintendent of maintainance for the state highway department.

Last Friday seven loads were hauled from route 42-S, five off route 42-N and six loads each from routes 30-N and 30-S, McMillan said.

Dumping of garbage and rubbish along a state highway is in violation of the law, according to Corp. C. F. Strayer, of the Mansfield highway patrol sation. Persons caught will be subject to a fine of not more than $200, imprisonment of not more than six months or both, Strayer says.

In Mansfield, city workmen today continued to collect rubbish set out on the curb by residents. Collections were being made in the Fourth ward today. Tomorrow work will be centered in the Fifth ward and on Saturday collections will be made in the Sixth ward.

The Beginners' Photographic class, made up of employes of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, ended a 10-week period of study and photography work last night when prizes were awarded for the best work by the students.

There were 54 entries in three classes of work; one class devoted exclusively to photographic studies of the old blockhouse in South park; a second to portraits, and a third an open contest for the best composition and subject material. The entries were displayed in one of the Westinghouse show rooms.

First prize winners in each class were awarded $5 in cash and second prize winners, $2. In the blockhouse class the winners were C. H. Fuchs, first; Raymond Turner, second; and "honorable mention" to John Weeks and Joe Donahue.

Winners in the portrait contest were Don Burger, first; Joe Donahue, second; and honorable mention to Melvin Marvicsin and L. B. Slick. Open contest winners were W. S. Shields, first; Charles E. Baer, second; and Joe Donahue and Raymond Turner won honorable mentions.

Auditor's Office Plans to Distribute Revenue to County Subdivisions.

More than $133,000 in personal taxes collected during the first half of the year will be distributed to the county and its subdivisions early next week, Deputy Auditor Arthur S. Beck said today.

From the collection of general personal taxes the city and county schools will receive $25,429, cities and villages, $12,419, the 18 townships a total of $3,038, and the county, $8,218, Beck said.

Allocations of classified personal taxes which the county and municipalities will receive had not been determined today. The townships' share of the classified tax will go into the county general fund.

Distribution of the tax receipts will include $200 to the state for the use of the tax commission in checking the settlement figures and tax rates.

Beck said the distribution of real estate taxes for the first half of the year, which amounted to more than $60,000, will not be made until June.

A number of the cities, villages, and school districts have been granted advances against the real estate collection, however, and they will have operating funds until the distribution is made, it was said.

WORST BATTLE IN CLASSROOM

Pershing Admits West Point Exam Toughest Fight.

LACLEDE, Mo.—Gen. John J. Pershing's hardest battle was fought in the classroom.

James Elbert Wilson, 79, of Ozona, Fla., returned for the dedication of an 1,800 acre park named for Pershing. As Laclede youths both sought the appointment to West Point. Pershing won the examination, 93 to 92½.

"I met Pershing after the World war," Wilson related, "and he told me 'boy, you gave me the toughest battle of my life.'"

BRINKERHOFF SCHOOL CHILDREN GIVE SPRING MUSICAL FRIDAY

Children of the Brinkerhoff elementary school will present their annual spring musical at 8 p. m. Friday in the Johnny Appleseed Junior high school auditorium.

The program consists of three parts, a "Tiny Tots' Style Revue" by first grade children, a play "Going to the Fair" by second grade children, and a two-act musical comedy, "Paints and Patches" by children of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

Music for the style revue will be furnished by the Johnny Appleseed Junior high school orchestra, directed by S. K. Jorgensen. The orchestra numbers are "Poet and Peasant Overture," "Melody in F" and "Shepherds' Dance." Miss Barbara Smythe is director of the revue.

Models are Leonard Heuss, Sally Oberlin, Ann Myers, Albert Snyder, Janet Widders, Roger Ralph, Jay Herbert, Nancy Schneider, Natalie Schneider, Helen Stacey, Dolores Staley, Mary Weller, Carolyn Fenn, Marilyn Moyer, Edna Tanner, Elizabeth Teeter, Judy Wyatt, Florence Brothers, Phyllis Gaul, Raymond Geary, John Haag, Marlene Keeler, Walter Rueckert and Gene Simmons.

A band composed of Kenneth Berkey, James Braker, Gerald Burkhart, Bill Harkins, Jim Ogden, John Todd, and Frederick Stahlheber, will play.

Roles in the fair number, directed by Miss Mary Jane Curtiss, will be played by Dorothy Cole, Margaret Cook, Robert Butterfield, Patsy Moore, Glen Pittenger, Holger Jorgensen, Jean Hathaway, Charles Jones, Charles Young, Eva Pitts and Mary Jo Staninger. Other boys of the class will act as clowns and the girls make up the chorus. Among the musical selections for this number will be a violin solo, "Adoration" by Margrethe Jorgensen.

Children having character parts in "Paints and Patches" are John Bishop, Ward Fate, Bud Crum, Birdie Kevey, Nancy Osbun, Louise Pitts, Marion Hergatt, Barbara Bailey, Paula Brunk, Jean Scott, Beverly Wentz, Shirley Burger, Billy Preshek, John Spear, Richard Hosler and George Frank. Other children will be seen in chorus and dance numbers. The comedy is directed by Miss Dorothy Smith and Miss Ruth Shocker. Miss Helen E. Hartmann, supervisor of elementary music, is assisting the school faculty with the program.

MARVEL COWELL HEADS CLUB SECOND SEASON

Re-elected to Business Women's Post; Dr. William Dern Guest Speaker at Dinner Meeting; Hike Planned.

FOLLOWING the casting of a unanimous ballot by the secretary, Mabelle A. Koppes, officers of the Mansfield Business and Professional Women's club were installed last night by Minnie Loudon, state chairman of the Florence Allen scholarship fund. Mrs. Marvel Cowell will continue as president of the organization.

She will be assisted by Mary Elizabeth Gruber, first vice president; Dorotha Garver, second vice president; Thelma Bogan, treasurer; Mildred Perry, corresponding secretary, and Marjorie High, recording secretary.

During the business session which followed the serving of dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Miss Garver announced that there will be a hike May 19 with members meeting at 2 p. m. at the courthouse. Members also decided to send a girl from the Children's home to Wildwood camp.

Marie Weil was named at this time delegate to the state convention being held May 25 and 26 at the Mayflower hotel in Akron.

There were 80 members and guests present to hear Grace Bonnell introduce William Dern, humorist, who spoke on "Dividends of Laughter." Dr. Dern, a gifted story teller, has spoken throughout the U. S. He now resides in Cincinnati, and has a background of theological training and the ministry for his entertaining philosophy.

Arrangements were in charge of Christine Fernyak, Falsom Teeter, Laura Konrad and Mayme Schweir, program; Althea Lorentz, Mary Eggert and Lillian Davis, hospitality.

The final meeting of the season will be held June 19, but arrangements have not yet been completed and will be announced at a later date.

Delphians Plan Party, Election

"Mark Twain, Frontier Humorist" was the topic discussed at the meeting of the Delta Delphians which was held at the public library Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. H. T. McGrath was the leader, with Mrs. O. L. Smith speaking on "Life of a Typical Pioneer Family"; Mrs. J. N. Shedd on "What is the Real American Spirit?"

Mrs. H. M. Spandau talked on "Mark Twain's Life as Social History" and Mrs. Paul Cropper on "Wives of Geniuses." Assisting with general discussion were Mrs. M. C. Yerigan, Mrs. R. M. Oliver, Mrs. Gilbert Baird and Mrs. Kent Myers.

At the next meeting Mrs. Myers will be hostess at the Mansfield-Leland hotel for a tea at 1 p. m. on May 22. Elections of officers will take place at that time.

Brethren Church Group Has Regular Meeting

Fifteen members of the Women's Missionary society of the First Brethren church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Boss, Arnold avenue. Mrs. W. L. Clark conducted the devotional period. "The Ministery of Christian Homes" was the topic discussed.

Mrs. Priscilla Teeters celebrated her 81st birthday anniversary. She and Mrs. Harvey Beal sang a duet, "Mother's Faded Picture." At the close of the program refreshments were served. Plans were made to meet in Ashland with Rev. and Mrs. Martin Shively on June 12.

HOW TO TELL if you are CONSTIPATED And What To Do!

How often should your bowels move? That varies in different people. But Insurance Companies who want to protect your health—who want to keep you from constipation with its headaches, indigestion, bad breath, mental and physical fatigue say "1 to 3 times daily."

And here's sensational news about an IDEAL "daily" treatment for constipation. Tests at a World-Famous Hospital have proved that a little daily dose of Kruschen—(world-famous formula now in pleasant tasting, "bubbling" form)—actually helps Nature produce her own gentle "daily" complete bowel movements by keeping the waste in the colon moist, soft and easy to expel. Scientists report: "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase dosage."

Kruschen gives you more for your money, too! A jar that costs only a trifle lasts for weeks. Made in U.S.A.

Now Comes in Pleasant Tasting "Bubbling" Form!

Elect Miss Moser New President of Junior Sorosis

MISS DOROTHY MOSER was elected president of the Mansfield Junior Sorosis last night at the meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Mickey, Western avenue. Mrs. S. R. Beard is vice president, and Mrs. Harold Mansfield will serve as secretary-treasurer. Mrs. H. D. Bishop was selected as sponsor.

Plans were made to install the officers at the annual dinner party to be held May 22 at the home of Mrs. W. C. Kramer, 166 Stewart avenue, at 6:30 p. m. The two past presidents, Mrs. L. C. Baumgardner and Mrs. Eugene Linham, will conduct the ceremony.

Arrangements for the party are in charge of Mrs. Andrew Mott, Mrs. William Hauserman, Mrs. Mickey and Mrs. Baird.

Final reports on the sale of household products were made, and suggestions for programs were given. Mrs. Lester Redding, guest speaker, presented an introduction to the consumers' movement. A round table discussion followed.

Miss Round Will Wed Harold Fry

Miss Phyllis Round, bride-elect of Harold Fry, whose marriage will be an event of May 18 at Grace church, Ravenna, was honored last evening when office employes of the Mansfield Telephone company entertained. Twelve were in attendance for a dinner party at Mifflin Inn. Cards and dancing were the diversions.

Dinner was served at one long table which was dainty with a centerpiece of mixed flowers in the pastel shades. The group presented Miss Round with a gift of china. The honoree won the high score gift for cards.

On Tuesday evening a kitchen shower was given for the bride-elect by Mrs. Lawrence Price, Lexington-Springmill road. Games were played during the evening and score awards were made to Miss Round and Mrs. Harry Brumenshenkel.

First Lutheran Class Holds Dinner Meeting

Members of the Katherine Van Bora class of the First Lutheran church had a covered-dish dinner at the Parish house last night with 24 members and guests in attendance. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. John Brant, Mrs. David Palmer, Mrs Ted Spellman, Miss Elizabeth Smith and Miss Katherine Pollock.

The teacher, Mrs. Dimon Herring, was given a handkerchief shower in celebration of her birthday. The program included a poem by Mrs. Brook Baer, and a piano selection by Miss Marcella Grau. Contest winners were Mrs. Ivan Bauer and Mrs. Waldo Matthes. The next meeting will be held in July.

MUSICAL TONIGHT.

The musical program being presented tonight by the orchestra and Senior choir of the First Christian church at 8 o'clock in the church auditorium will be open to the public. Mrs. H. H. Clingan, Mrs. Bruce Rogers and M. J. Lybarger are in charge. Features will be a piano and organ duet by Mrs. Clingan and Miss Thelma Reed, orchestral, choir, instrumental and vocal numbers, and selections by both the men's and the women's choruses.

Miscellaneous Shower Honors Miss Caugherty

A miscellaneous shower was held last night at the home of Mrs. Charles Caugherty, 617 Bowman street, for her daughter, Elmira, who will become the bride of Jack Russell on June 29. Cards and games were the diversion of the evening with prizes being awarded to the Misses Joan Herrick, Elizabeth Rusiski, Marjorie Walker, Virginia Sutter and Ruth Neil. The awards were all presented to the honoree.

Pastel flowers and tall pink tapers decorated the refreshment table. A shower of gifts was presented to the bride-elect, and her mother gave her a gift also. This was the first in a series of prenuptial affairs.

Philomathian Club Meets In Shelby Home

The home of Mrs. George Reichert, jr., at Shelby was the scene of the Philomathian meeting attended last night by 18 members and two guests. Miss Mary Cox, Mansfield, and Mrs. Wayne Carleton, Shelby.

"Games of Chance" was the topic of the paper presented by Mrs. Paul Stephens. Spring flowers including jonquils and narcissi decorated the table when refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held May 22 at the home of Mrs. Martin Brunner.

2 Young Women's Units Hold Special Events Feting Mothers

WITH the approach of Mothers' day several organizations have already held special parties honoring mothers of the members. Last night the younger set was responsible for a high tea at the Towne House. Miss Thelma Dickson, sponsor of the Little Women's club, poured, and each mother was presented with a carnation.

Miss Dickson and Miss Elaine Miller gave short talks. The affair was arranged by Donna Mae Bonecutter and Mildred Stone.

* * *

Contests were the evening's diversion, with prizes going to Mrs. Elmer Fisher, Mrs. Edith Fogle, Mrs. Eli Teeter, Mrs. Pauline Birch, Mrs. William Beer, jr., and Mrs. Fred Harrold. Arrangements for the affair were in charge of Misses Georgia Barrett, Evelyn Gongwer, Betty Koogle and Kitty Birch.

Heringhaus, Mrs. John W. Graham and Mrs. C. R. Montgomery.

Arrangements for the affair were in charge of Mrs. M. L. Smith assisted by Mrs. K. B. Miller, Mrs. A. L. Glattke, Mrs. Montgomery and Mrs. Charles S. Kuntz.

Following the play supper was served at two long tables in the dining room. Each was centered with bowls of cut flowers in shades of pink, blue and white. A pair of two-branch candelabra bearing lighted pink tapers completed the setting, and alternated pink and blue table appointments were also used.

The final meeting of the season will be a business session next Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Heringhaus, 632 Coleman road.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN MEET FOR LUNCHEON

Paul Selby Guest Speaker at Session of County Group Held In Shiloh High School; Concert Given.

RICHLAND county Republican women met Wednesday at Shiloh for a luncheon meeting and miscellaneous program. Places were laid for 155 at long tables which were attractively decorated with spring flowers in the pastel colors. Women of the First Methodist church of Shiloh served at the high school auditorium.

Paul Selby, of Columbus, chief of the division of securities, was the guest speaker, using as his topic "Our American Liberties." Republican candidates were introduced by Mrs. Elizabeth Grubaugh, secretary of the central committee.

The meeting was opened with a concert given by the Shiloh high school band under the direction of Paul Elly. Mrs. Della Cochran, patriotic instructor, led the salute to the flag. The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Velma Alderson and Mrs. Lois Cole gave the treasurer's report.

A short talk was given by Mrs. Josephine Blakey.

General arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Bessie Miller and Mrs. Glenn Swanger of Shiloh. The reception committee was composed of Mrs. Cornelia Johns of Plymouth, Mrs. Ruth Kirkwood of Butler township, Mrs. Ethel Nelson, Cass township and Mrs. Vera Pollock of Shenandoah; registration, Mrs. Fleta Wolfe, Franklin township, Mrs. Harry Griffith, Plymouth township, Mrs. Mary Benedict, Mrs. Randall Barrett and Mrs. Nellie Ports of Mansfield.

The contest committee consisted of Mrs. Archie May, Mrs. Ralph Davis, Mrs. Charles Rhoades and Mrs. Fred Marlow, all of Mansfield. Mrs. Ralph Hughes presided during the meeting.

The date and place of the next meeting will be announced at a later date.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"I promise upon everything I hold sacred to keep absolutely quiet no matter what happens," he said with almost ludicrous solemnity, and I was just able to get back to my chair when Mary dashed in with the handkerchief for which I had asked

"I brought you two," she said, "so if I move you to too many tears, you'll be supplied. How about it? Has you done rested your feet yet?"

"I'm all ready," I told her, and then we went along the corridor and down the stairs to the lower hall.

"Auntie Madge!" she said. "Do you think it would ruin everything if I jumped right into your rendition of this role instead of going through with that stilted thing of my father-in-law's? Honestly, I don't think I mind the prospect of being kicked out of the role as much as I do going through that farce of a rendition and having those actors and actresses look at me as if I were something that had let loose from a zoo."

I was so stunned for a second by her request to change the plan we had made so carefully that I couldn't answer it adequately. She rushed on:

"You remember Olina's reaction to the way I said those few lines when we were practicing together?" she asked, and then she went off on a tangent.

"Where is Olina — and her harp?" she asked flippantly.

"I do not know," I returned tersely, still worrying over what answer I should make to Mary's suggestion.

"You sound as if you didn't much care," she said slyly.

"That's the intention I intended to convey," I retorted. "The innovation of the harp is Olina's business and your father-in-law's. The harp, of course, is already in the library. You know that. Your father-in-law may already have sent for Olina, or he may be waiting—"

"To have her entrance the grand one when every one else is assembled," Mary interrupted. "Enter Her Royal Highness, the Princess Olina of Transvania! I wonder if he'll expect us all to curtsey?"

Secretly I was absurdly wondering the same thing. But I refused to consider it.

"He'll hardly be that ridiculous," I said "Now about that request of yours—"

"Forget it!" Mary said abruptly. "You know I didn't really mean it You planned how to give my father-in-law his come-uppance so carefully that any modification of it would be absurd I'm all right now. I just got off the track momentarily. Let's barge in and get it over with while my courage holds out."

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, May 10.

ACCORDING to an interesting chain of planetary configurations this may prove a day on which things will move at particularly high tempo and toward the launching of important projects and the attainment of cherished objectives. It is a time for strong and determined initiative, especially in new directions, with the promise of desired support from influential sources for promotion. This might demand a revamping of plans or other beneficial change. In all transactions be alert to duplicity or fraud, or hazardous complications.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which much in the way of good fortune and general satisfaction depends upon bold initiative, sound plans and methods, together with the ability of character to enlist the support of superiors and those in financial standing who will be ready to support practical and workable new ideas. Some change may be required, and there may be the necessity of frustrating duplicity, fraud or dangerous entanglements But the mentality is splendidly equipped and of trustworthy stability.

A child born on this day may have much resoursefulness, ingenuity and enterprise, with a shrewd and discerning mind, perhaps easily turning to ways of expediency if cornered Training in integrity and forthrightness might not be amiss

PLAN EVENTS.

Members of Kappa Kappa Kappa were the guests of Miss Janice Sanborn, 245 West Third street, last night when Miss Eleanor Miller and Mrs. Delores Shafer assisted. Refreshments were served Plans were made to have formal initiation at the Park Avenue Baptist church May 28. Plans were also made for a steak fry May 19 at Middle park.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE BEST KIND OF HAND

This being the one-thousandth article in this series, it is appropriate to present the writer's favorite type of hand. Many of those who have written about bridge get their greatest delight from showing the most elaborate and intricate advanced plays of a sort which the average player will not encounter once in hundreds of deals, and even then would not be expected to recognize. We favor those which emphasize the kind of features which will be most valuable to readers in their everyday play, as helping them to improve their reasoning powers on the general run of deals.

George Reith, jr., son of the recently deceased veteran expert, was in the North and David S Gibson, of Plainfield, N. J., in the South. West led the diamond J, the Q being allowed by Mr. Gibson to win, and the K, too. When East switched to the heart J, the crisis of the hand was present

First it was clear to Mr Gibson that East would have returned a third diamond if he had held one. Second, if the heart finessse lost to West, the latter could return a diamond and knock out the A, then almost surely would have the spade A for a re-entry, in view of his bid, and would take the setting tricks after Mr. Gibson had eight.

But even if West had these cards, the contract could be made safely by playing the A on the heart lead, then offering a small spade toward the K. When he did this, West came in with the A, making game sure for the declarer. Had West then led another diamond 4-No Trumps would have been made, but he had sense enough to cash his heart K, so that exactly game was produced. If West had ducked the first spade, declarer would have won with the Q and would rave run game.

The practice of granting public lands to soldiers as bounties was adopted during the colonial period in America.

AWARD PRIZES.

Golf was in play at Possum Run yesterday morning when the women competed for low putt prizes. Winners were Mrs. P. J. Linster, Mrs. Raymond Beal and Mrs. Carl Adams. Following the noon luncheon bridge was played and Mrs. H. E. Frome, Mrs. F. C. Strome and Mrs. A. E. Kushin were the winners. Members of the women's group will gather again next Wednesday morning for play.

After a spade to the J, a heart to the A, a heart to the J, a club to the A, the diamond J to the Q and the K return, how should South play to make an overtrick at 3-Hearts?

WHAT HUMUS DOES FOR THE SOIL

Humus performs many important functions in the soil. Added to sandy soil it gives it more body, thus helping it retain moisture and plant foods. On the other hand, humus added to a heavy, stiff soil helps to loosen it, making it more porus and friable, thus promoting deeper root growth of plants.

There is, however, a right and a wrong way to apply humus. As shown in the accompanying illustration, do not spread humus over the lawn as a mulch. When used in this way it merely keeps the roots near the surface of the soil and prevents their deeper growth. The right way to apply humus for the encouragement of deeper roots on grass plants is to work it into the soil so that the roots will grow downward in search of it.

HAVE GLAMOUR LEGS

with new cold-water suds for stockings!

Women rave how new type suds keeps hosiery colors keener and brighter . . . not a soap and thus contains no alkali to weaken material and fade colors. An amazing improvement on even finest soaps and soap flakes because it makes big suds in cold water.

4 VIRTUES OF VEL NOT IN ANY SOAP:

1. INSTANT SUDS IN COLD WATER
2. NO ALKALI TO FADE COLORS
3. NO COTTONY AFTERLOOK FROM SOAP-SCUM
4. NO ACID OR ALKALI TO IRRITATE HANDS

EVERY woman knows how tough hot water and soap-scum can be on stockings, woolens, and all fine things. But here's thrilling news! Vel, the amazing new cold-water suds perfected by Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company, does away with these enemies of fine fabrics.

Vel is not a soap. It is an entirely different washing principle. Vel is one hundred times as soluble as soap in cold water. Vel contains no acid or alkali to damage and fade colors and Vel leaves no soap-scum to dull colors and make silks cottony-looking. Thus, Vel is ideal for all fine fabrics, because it dissolves instantly in cold water to make mountains of billowy, cleansing suds.

See your stockings keep their delicate sheerness and fresh color amazingly longer when done in Vel's cold suds. See woolens and underwear regain bride-like freshness. Colored prints sing with radiant sparkle. Dishes and glassware glitter with highlights. See for yourself that Vel leaves no ring around the bowl. That shows no ruinous soap-scum can stay in dainty things to cause cottony afterlook. So, try Vel . . . the amazing, instant cold-water suds, today. Buy Vel today at any grocer's. Made and guaranteed by Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company.

IN HARD-WATER TOWNS

U. S. Government Survey shows thousands of communities listed as "hard-water" towns. If your water is hard, Vel suds delight you more than ever because

Vel suds:- is pure soap 2 to 1 in hardest water

Vel makes as much as 5 times more suds than expensive soap flakes in hardest water

VEL IS A NEUTRAL HYDROPHILIC DETERGENT

Try VEL AND YOU'LL NEVER GO BACK TO SOAP!

SILENCE KEPT BY MUSSOLINI ON WAR TREND

There were 75,000 persons in the Venice square to hear Mussolini and watch him present gold medals to 37 mothers, wives and sweethearts of Italian soldiers killed in Ethiopia, Spain and Albania. Of the occasion, Mussolini said: "A glorious day in the history of our nation is May 9, 1936. It was a day of sun-flooded victories."

Each time, a group of officers immediately beneath the balcony started the shout of "Tunisia!"

It had been expected that Mussolini might make some important statement today on the international situation, in which Senator Maurizio Maraviglia had said in a speech yesterday Italy is now a "pre-belligerent" rather than a non-belligerent.

Russian Alignment With Allies Hinted.

(By Associated Press)

BELGRADE — Parrallel reports of steps toward both Soviet Russian and Allied protection of Yugoslavia were viewed today in Balkan diplomatic quarters as evidence of possible Russian-British-French co-operation against the Rome-Berlin axis in this corner of Europe.

There is this important distinction in the two reported moves affecting Yugoslavia: The Yugoslavs appeared to be turning toward Russia for support while the British and French seek Yugoslavia's acceptance of their proffered guarantee of her independence and territorial integrity.

Whether Yugoslavia is looking for help from Russia as well as from the western powers was not clear. It is possible that her greater inclination is toward the east.

At any rate, the possibility of Russia's entrance into the Balkan picture with a military link to Yugoslavia, at a time when the Allies and the axis powers are accusing each other of preparing to invade little countries, might stave off war in the Balkans.

But for how long, or with what other long-range results, no one could calculate.

It was learned authoritatively in Belgrade that a Yugoslav military mission would leave shortly for Moscow and military consultations with Russian leaders.

The belief was expressed in quarters close to the government that a Yugoslav-Russian military alliance might result from the visit.

A Yugoslav trade delegation is renewing commercial relations with Russia. Only two days ago the Moscow economic talks were reported to be 'turning from commerce to "political" questions.

News of the military mission to Moscow had been kept a close secret in Yugoslavia while the nation rushed troops and guns to her Italian and German frontiers.

Allied envoys were reported to have assured Yugoslav leaders that British and French troops, planes and naval forces would be sent to the country's help in case Yugoslavia found it necessary to resist an axis attack.

Italy has disavowed any such intention and Germany's position has been stated as merely a readiness to counter any Allied stroke in any quarter.)

Similar allied offers to Bulgaria and Hungary already had been reported, with success in doubt.

Bulgaria was said to have insisted she would preserve complete neutrality while Hungary was understood to have told the British envoy that any decision would have to be reached when the necessity for a decision arises.

Other countries reported involved in the Allied attempt to build a southeastern European defense alliance based on committments of Allied aid are Greece, Turkey and Rumania.

Reports from Athens said that Premier Gen. John Metaxas showed coolness to an Allied proposal that British and French forces occupy Greek islands in the Aegean sea to put them in position for effective aid.

Rumania Reports Confidence Shattered.

ANKARA—(INS)—Confidence of the Balkan states in the Anglo-French Allies has been shattered by Germany's victory in Norway, a spokesman for the Rumanian embassy in Ankara said today.

The spokesman's statement was made in the course of comment upon a report that Balkan nations are conferring with Turkey regarding a defense front.

He said the Balkans are convinced they must depend upon themselves and added presence of the Allied fleet in the eastern Mediterranean is not regarded as an unmixed blessing.

The fleet operations, he said, might precipitate a situation like that which prevailed after Britain mined Norwegian territorial waters. The spokesman also declared that it is felt the Allies are not prepared to succeed in a Balkan campaign.

SPOILS DIVIDED

Cleveland Democrats Settle Down to Usual Bickering.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The spoils of a factional raid divided, Cleveland Democrats resumed their normal primary bickering today.

The raid was staged by sheriff's deputies at the behest of the group led by Ray T. Miller. The deputies crashed into the downtown hotel headquarters of W. B. Gongwer, leader of the other faction, and seized papers and property.

In the division of spoils the Miller group got material belonging to the county executive committee and the Gongwer adherents got the rest, including an oval table given Gongwer by the late Tom L. Johnson, famous Democratic mayor of Cleveland.

Father-Daughter Reunion Ends In Double Tragedy

DETROIT (INS) The reunion of a father and daughter separated 29 years was broken today by the murder of the father, the injury of the daughter and the suicide of her estranged husband.

The father, Wallace Thrasher, 53, saved the life of his daughter, Mrs. Maretta Hayden, 30, and gave his own when he shielded her from the blazing gun of her estranged husband, Russell, 35, of Denver, Col. Hayden then killed himself while his wife suffered powder burns.

The double tragedy followed by two weeks the reunion of Thrasher and his daughter whom he had not seen since she was a year old when she was given into the custody of Thrasher's divorced wife. Returning home and jubilant over her success in finding a job, Mrs. Hayden said she found her estranged husband chatting with her father. When she refused her husband's pleas to return to Denver, he pulled a pistol from his pocket and started shooting, she told police.

RUNNING MATE BOOM STARTED FOR BANKHEAD

Alabaman and Senator Byrnes Mentioned as Candidates For Vice President.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Democratic vice presidential booms for Speaker William Bankhead of Alabama and Sen. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina were coupled today with new calls for President Roosevelt's renomination.

Senator Lister Hill (D., Ala.) forecast the president's selection by acclamation at the Chicago convention, and expressed the hope that Bankhead would be his running mate.

The Alabama delegation is nominally pledged to the veteran house speaker, but he is not an avowed candidate for the presidential nomination. Delegates-at-large chosen in Tuesday's primary were advertised as the "New Deal slate."

Gov. Burnet R. Maybank of South Carolina, here on a state mission, echoed a statement by Senator Adams (D., Col.) that Senator Byrnes should be on the Democratic national ticket.

"We are going to do everything we can to get Byrnes the nomination," said Maybank.

Adams previously had told reporters that Byrnes would make a "good candidate" in the first place if the president declined to run.

His colleague, Sen. E. D. Smith, told reporters that he would not be a delegate to the national convention if the South Carolina delegates were instructed to vote for Mr. Roosevelt. The president opposed Smith's renomination in 1938.

In the Republican presidential race, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio reiterated his belief that he would have more delegates than Thomas E. Dewey when the convention opens.

Edwin F. Jaeckle, New York Republican chairman and a Dewey advocate, told reporters that the New York district attorney was "doing very well and making considerable progress."

STEAMER SOLD

CLEVELAND —(AP) —The passenger steamer Goodtime which carried vacationists between Cleveland and Lake Erie play spots has new owners today. The purchasers, L. J. Omelian and C. J. Guerrein, both of Erie, Pa., have not announced whether they will recommission the 51-year-old side-wheeler or break it up.

DISBARRED

State Supreme Court Rules On Cleveland Decision.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) —The state supreme court yesterday upheld disbarment of Sol Copperman, Cleveland attorney, by overruling an appeal for review of lower court judgments.

Proceedings against Copperman were undertaken in connection with investigation by the Bar association of alleged "ambulance chasing." He was accused of engaging in solicitation of claims for workmen's compensation.

In a joint order with the supreme command, the fuehrer dispatched the command to the commander of the Nazi fighting forces in Germany. It read in part:

"In order to show my appreciation . . . I have therefore decided to authorize the liberation of Norwegian soldiers who have been taken prisoners.

"Professional soldiers only must remain in custody until the former Norwegian government has withdrawn its proclamation of war on Germany or until officers and soldiers have given their solemn word of honor not to take part under any circumstances in any further hostile actions against Germany."

FOUR DIVISIONS LOST

PARIS—(INS)—Norway has already lost at least four of its six army divisions, Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht disclosed today.

The remnants of the fifth and sixth divisions are concentrated in the Narvik area or are proceeding there, he said, while troops of the first four are "dead, taken prisoner, dispersed or interned in Sweden."

Military supplies of grain sufficient for a year have been laid away safe from German hands, Koht declared. King Haakon and his government, determined to continue resistance, have already purchased huge quantities of supplies and munitions from England, he said.

DELAY ACTION ON HATCH BILL IN COMMITTEE

McGregor Signs Petition to Cancel Consideration of Politics Act.

WASHINGTON—Postponement of a scheduled house judiciary committee meeting today delayed further consideration of the Hatch "clean slate politics" bill.

Chairman Hatton W. Sumners called off the meeting when arrangements were made for the house to convene at earlier than its usual meeting time.

Rep. Abe Murdock, D., Utah, was ready to move that the Hatch bill, which would prohibit political activity among state employes paid with federal funds, be reported to the house for a vote.

Previous agreement of the committee to consider the McLaughlin railroad bankruptcy bill at its meeting today, however, threatened to delay still further the attempt to get action on he Hatch bill.

Meanwhile, Rep. John J. Dempsey, D., N. M., had 130 signers on his petition to discharge the judiciary committee from considering the bill. It requires 218 to be effective and may be signed only while the house is in session.

Among the recent signers of the petition was Rep. J. Harry McGregor, O., Republican.

FUGITIVE FREE

No Funds, So O. S. R. Won't Try to Return Him.

Miss Barbara Danford, executive secretary of the state welfare department, said today that because of lack of funds no attempt would be made to return an Ohio state reformatory fugitive who is being held by Minneapolis police.

Dispatches from Columbus said Grover Morrison, alias Michael J. O'Reilly, sentenced from Williams county to serve from one to 15 years on a charge of breaking and entering, was picked up Tuesday in Minneapolis and accused of vagrancy. He was identified through fingerprints.

Scheduled to be paroled Jan. 2, Morrison, Supt. Arthur L. Glatfke said, walked away from the institution's Sandusky honor camp last August. He had served three and a half years of his sentence.

CHAMBERLAIN TO TRY TO HOLD ON DESPITE BALLOT

Chamberlain sat tight. It was evident that whatever happened, whether Chamberlain reorganized his battered ministry or whether at some time he gave way to another man, Britain had now made up its mind, in its deliberate way, to face the war squarely and fight it to the end with all its resources and all its strength.

Many people, including well informed commons members, had been convinced that Chamberlain would resign, perhaps today.

But as commons opened he told Maj. Clement Atlee, Labor party leader, that the government was ready to debate conduct of the war when the house reassembled after its recess and would agree to a secret session on economic warfare.

He announced the commons legislative program for the next session, as if he intended to remain in charge.

Even before Sir John Anderson had announced the legislation to guard against attack, special precautions had been taken against any invasion by parachute troops and guards at airdromes had started special pistol training.

Sir John told the commons that government legislation would give special powers to resist any enemy attempt to undermine resistance to an attack, would seek to check the spread of propaganda calculated to undermine the people's resolution to prosecute the war to victory, would provide for internment of non-enemy aliens who can not be deported because of the war, and would prescribe the death penalty for grave cases of sabotage as well as espionage.

Seven years' penal servitude or a fine up to $2,000 or both will be prescribed for any systematic publication of matter calculated to foment opposition to prosecution of the war.

Chamberlain's activity in the house today left members confused after the big two day debate on the Norwegian campaign and the unflatteringly small confidence which the government obtained at its end—281 votes to 200, out of a total membership of 615.

Reports had been circumstantial that Chamberlain would resign and that with him would go Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, and Sir Samuel Hoare, air minister, closely linked with "appeasement" policies.

Gossip was that any new prime minister would take into the cabinet such conservative dissidents as L. S. Amery, a former first lord of the admiralty and a political power, and Alfred Duff Cooper, who resigned the first lordship, at the outset of what looked like a brilliant career, because he "could not stomach" the Munich conference agreement.

It was taken for granted that any new prime minister would invite opposition leaders into his cabinet and belief was growing that they could accept. Major Attlee, Arthur Greenwood, Herbert Morrison and A. V. Alexander, Labor, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, Liberal, were mentioned as likely appointees.

French Cabinet Watches London Crisis.

PARIS—(U.P.)—The French cabinet adjourned at 12:45 p. m. today, after a two hour and 20 minute discussion of the British cabinet crisis.

Premier Paul Reynaud is now believed by French political experts to be in a stronger position regardless of the fate of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's cabinet.

Reynaud, who must stand censure along with Chamberlain for the failure of the Norwegian campaign, is said to be subject to less criticism than Chamberlain inasmuch as the Norwegian campaign was largely a British venture.

Holland Grimly Awaits Invasion

This Central Press map shows Holland and northern Belgium which dispatches say may be the next German objective. Second Attempt Made to Prevent Goat Slaughter

BALTIMORE —(INS)— A second attempt was made today to stop Lester P. Barlow, explosive inventor, from carrying out his tests of "mass death" on 250 live goats staked out in a field at Aberdeen proving grounds.

The Maryland society for prevention of cruelty to animals petioned Judge C. Gus Grason in Towson court for an injunction to halt the experiment on the goats scheduled May 16.

Barlow is to demonstrate to government officials the deadliness of his explosive. Judge Grason signed an order giving Barlow until May 15 to answer why an injunction should not be granted.

NAZIS CHARGE MILLER SLAIN

American Writer Told Truth About Government, German Papers Explain.

English circles, it is given by the treacherous murder of Miller. In their perplexity, Miller was too dangerous for the London clique. The world, however, again sees the secret service on the job and experiences the destruction of a man who had too great an integrity to help line up things in the English manner. It will be impossible to make Americans believe that Tuesday evening a train door opened and Miller, of all people, had to suffer fatal injuries by falling onto the tracks. After the Munich outrage, (the bombing of the Nazi beer cellar shrine soon after Adolf Hitler left it) after sabotage action on the Danube, after the discovery of explosives among British secret service agents in Sweden; now comes this murder. The war will also free the world from the secret service."

Coroner Gives Verdict of Accidental Death.

(By United Press)

LONDON—After an inquest at Battersea mortuary, Coroner Hervey Wyatt decided today that Webb Miller, European general manager of the United Press, died an accidental death as a result of falling from a train at Clapham junction.

"It is a sad case," the coroner said, "a sad end to a brilliant life. Mr. Miller was a perfectly normal and healthy man and there was nothing to worry him at all."

Dr. Frederick Simpson testified that Miller died from a fractured skull, that "his injuries were consistent with a simple fall onto the railroad track."

Evidence was given that Miller's body was found Wednesday morning 10 yards beyond the end of the Clapham station platform between two railway lines. It was presumed that he had stepped from his compartment thinking that the train was at the station platform. London blackout restrictions require trains to extinguish all lights before entering a station and the station platforms are not lighted.

Funeral services will be held Friday in the chapel of Golders Green crematorium. Miller's ashes will be sent to the United States. His widow, Marie Alston Miller, and his 18-year-old son Kenneth are in New York.

Services will be conducted by the Rev. A. Taylor of Saint Brides church in Fleet street (church of England).

Senate Probe of Ohio Campaign Expenses Hinted

VIC DONAHEY URGES DEFEAT OF SPENDERS

BULLETIN

CLEVELAND— (AP) — Headquarters of William J. Kennedy, one of seven candidates for Ohio's Democratic gubernatorial nomination, today reported abortive efforts to induce Kennedy to withdraw in favor of former Gov. George White of Marietta.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—The senate campaign investigating committee today scrutinized charges of excessive campaign expenditures in the Ohio Republican and senatorial primary contests today as Sen. Vic Donahey urged the voters to defeat candidates of either party who spend too lavishly to win their offices.

In Washington, Sen. Guy Gillette, (D.-Iowa), chairman of the investigating committee, said complaints had been received not only of excessive expenditures but also of "improper use of state patronage."

He emphasized that both Democratic and Republican senatorial contests were under scrutiny, but it would obviously be impossible for Democrats to make use of state patronage with a Republican state administration.

Contrary to expectations of some observers in Ohio, Donahey in his statement made no endorsement for any of the seven candidates in the Democratic gubernatorial contest. Besides criticizing expensive campaigns as a "blight and curse on progressive government," he took occasion to disavow a movement to conduct a write-in campaign at the primary for him as a candidate for governor. His statement said:

Vote Mailed.

"I have mailed by absent voter's primary ballot to my home county (Logan) and I shall refrain, as has been my custom, from endorsing any candidate for governor on the primary ticket.

"I do however, want to make an observation to my Ohio friends.

"Excessive money-spending candidacies are a blight and a curse to progressive government. Vote against candidates of either party who spend in their campaigns many times more money then the office would pay in salary."

Both former Gov. George White and William J. Kennedy, two of the candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, were reported to have sought Donahey's support, but he declined to say for whom he voted. It was understood in Washington, however, he was eager to see John McSweeney, Wooster, win the senatorial nomination and was prepared to work for his election.

In connection with complaints regarding the Republican senatorial contest Senator Gillette would not disclose the source. He had not decided whether committee investigators would be sent into Ohio. Little probably could be accomplished before the election next Tuesday.

Rep. Dudley A. White, of Norwalk, seeking the G. O. P. nomination for the senate, said he would welcome an investigation and that it would disclose that "we have conducted a senatorial campaign with the most reasonable cost in the last 25 years."

"I have no patronage at all," he said. "The Mayor (Mayor Harold H. Burton, of Cleveland, his chief opponent,) has a substantial amount in the city administration but I would not attempt to say how he has handled it."

DRIVERS ESCAPE

Trucker, Motorist Uninjured After Crash In Lexington.

Two motorists escaped injuries when a truck and an automobile collided at 5:20 p. m. yesterday on route 42 in Lexington.

A car driven by Arlie R. Marks, Longbottom, O., collided with the rear of a truck driven by Harold E Smith of Galion as he attempted to pass the truck, according to highway patrolmen. Neither driver was injured, officers said.

The entry that won first prize in the baseball contest conducted by the Mansfield Baseball club and The News-Journal was really a piece of art. Submitted by Robert S. Hanes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin B. Hanes, 267 West Fifth street, was a small booklet, cut in the shape of a fielder's glove. Each of the 21 pages was colored. On the cover was a drawing of a baseball. And on every page on which he answered a question was a cartoon of a ball player or umpire in action. He even had a drawing of the Fairground park where the Braves play. On one page was a pennant which read: "Mansfield Braves, 1940 champions." Incidentally, all the questions were answered correctly.

Parking his car near Central park a couple of days ago, County Commissioner C. L. Mitchell forgot he had driven the car to work and started looking for it in a garage several blocks from the courthouse. After walking there and not finding it, he was just about ready to report it stolen when he remembered where he left the machine. He is being ribbed by the other two commissioners who say he had no reason to be worried and absent-minded, because he's not seeking re-election this year and they are.

Athletic rivalry between students and teachers at Johnny Appleseed junior high school, which began last month when the boys defeated a team of male teachers in a basketball game, was continued yesterday noon with the teachers coming out on top this time. They defeated the boys in a volleyball game 26 to 16. With the score now at one game apiece, the student body will be trying for another victory next week when a team of girls meets a team of women teachers in another volleyball game.

HAIR STUDIED

Detectives Find Torso Murder Clues in Box Car.

YOUNGSTOWN—(U.P.)—Experts in criminal detection studied about 75 strands of brown hair and several strands of another color today as the first definite clues to the torso slaying of one of three men whose decapitated bodies were found in a railroad box car last week.

The hair was found in the box car by Pittsburgh police along with the bloody print of a human heel smeared on a Youngstown newspaper.

Police believe the recent three slayings took place in Youngstown and that the freight car had been shuttled to Pittsburgh in the course of normal rail operations.

"The brown hair apparently is from one victim," Peter Merylo, Cleveland detective said. Cleveland authorities have joined the investigation seeking to establish a connection between the Youngstown murders and the brutal unsolved slayings of Cleveland's "mad butcher of Kingsbury Run."

Merylo said the other hair, which color he refused to disclose, may have belonged to the actual murderer.

PRESENT BASIS FOR WPA GIVEN COMMITTEE O.K.

$1,134,000,000 Bill Reaches House Next Thursday for Consideration.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt's proposal to appropriate $985,000,000 to run the work projects administration for eight months today won the approval of the powerful house appropriations deficiency subcommittee.

The plan would continue operation of WPA on its present annual basis from July 1 until next March 1, when congress would be confronted with necessity of making a deficit appropriation.

The new relief bill, which is expected to total $1,134,000,000 and carry funds for the farm security administration, Puerto Rico relief commission and other allied agencies, is slated to be reported to the house next Thursday.

The program approved by the house subcommittee includes:

1. Modification of present provision of law, which requires 30-day layoff of WPA workers on rolls 18 months, cutting layoff to 15 days. This was recommended by Col F. C. Harrington, WPA commissioner.

2. Continuation of present provision requiring local 25 per cent sponsorship on non-federal WPA projects. Administration sought removal of restriction.

3. Continuation of $52,000 project limit on WPA building construction.

4. Continuation of ban on federal theater projects and continuation of requirement that arts projects be placed on local sponsorship basis.

5. Limitation of administrative employes to five per cent of total.

The plan to limit WPA appropriations to an eight-month period was proposed by the administration, subcommittee members said, to avoid exceeding the present $45,000,000,000 legal debt limit.

WIDOW, 69, DIES

Mrs. Woodhull Was Member of Pioneer Richland Family.

Mrs. Hattie Adams Woodhull, 69, widow of George Woodhull, died yesterday at her home three miles west of Mansfield on the West Fourth street road after a lingering illness.

A life long resident of Richland county, Mrs. Woodhull was born July 7, 1870, in Mansfield. She had been a resident of Springfield township for 24 years. She was the last member of the Alexander and Keziah Neff family, pioneer residents of Richland county.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. George Ricker and a son, Earl Woodhull of Springfield township. She was a member of the Mayflower Congregational church.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the home in charge of Rev. Grover E. Swoyer of the First Lutheran church. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

ILLNESS FATAL TO WIDOW, 56

Mrs. Bertha Harrer Dies At Home Near New Washington.

NEW WASHINGTON — Mrs. Bertha Louise Harrer, 56, widow of Jeffe Harrer, died Wednesday night at the home of a daughter, south of here, after an illness of six years.

Mrs. Harrer was born March 3, 1884, and was preceded in death by her husband in July, 1930. Surviving are six children, two sisters and one brother.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the New Washington Methodist church following brief services at the home of her daughter. Burial will be in Union cemetery.

FARM PAYMENTS

House Votes Today on More Agricultural Funds.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The house was to vote today on proposal to add $317,000,000 to its agricultural appropriation bill.

This sum was added by the senate after house passage of the supply bill, the upper house asking $212,000,000 for farm parity payments, $85,000,000 for the surplus commodities stamp plan, and $50,000,000 for the farm tenancy program.

FAMOUS YACHTS HEADED FOR WAR

Morgan's Corsair and Former Presidential Craft In Line for Sales.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Two famous American yachts were being readied today for sale to British and Canadian purchasers perhaps for eventual war duty against the Germans.

The boats were the $2,000,000 Corsair, J. P. Morgan's 343-foot luxury yacht, and the Mayflower, a 320-foot vessel that was used as United States presidential yacht from 1902 to 1929.

Morgan has applied to the U. S. maritime commission for permission to sell his yacht, which can cross the Atlantic with the ease of an ocean liner, to Camper & Nicholsons, Ltd., British shipowners. A Morgan spokesman said it was not being sold for use as a war vessel.

William Broadfoot, co-owner of the Mayflower now tied up at Wilmington, Del., said he will ask the maritime commission for permission to accept the best of several Canadian purchase offers.

(Editor's note: Although London naval quarters declined comment on the impending purchase of the Corsair, it was pointed out that Camper & Nicholsons is principally engaged in outfitting ships for the British admiralty and that private yachting is no longer permitted in British waters because of the war. Most private English yachts have already been pressed into war service. The Morgan yacht, it was pointed out would be excellently suited for such auxiliary as patrol work.)

Since last April 1 more than 15 large American yachts have been sold to Canadian purchasers with maritime commission permission. All sales were to individuals but it has since been reported the boats have been repurchased by the Canadian government for auxiliary naval duties.

SENT TO SENATE

Postmaster Appointments Made for Ashland, Galion, Bucyrus.

Nominations for postmaster appointments at Ashland, Galion and Bucyrus had been sent to the U. S. senate today by President Roosevelt for confirmation.

The three nominees need only senate approval to receive the appointments, and the president's nominations are usually upheld.

OBERLIN MOCK CONVENTION TO PICK REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES

(By United Press)

OBERLIN — Political oratory will replace classroom theory at Oberlin college Friday and Saturday when 1800 students participate in Oberlin's 20th quadrennial mock political convention.

Planned as a full-scale rehearsal of the Republican presidential convention in Philadelphia this June, the Oberlin convention will be staged under a huge circus tent on the college campus. Bands will play, "candidates" will sound forth with stump speeches, and old-fashioned political "horse trading" will take place in the "backrooms."

Since the Oberlin student body voted last fall that the convention be Republican, the students will be divided into state delegations, with the same numerical strength as at regular G. O. P. conventions.

Of the 19 previous conventions, the delegates nine times nominated men for the presidency who were later chosen at the regular party conventions. However, the slogan—"as Oberlin goes, so goes the nation" — was soft-pedalled after 1936, when the Republican candidate, John G. Winant, later became a Democratic long-shot.

The keynote speaker and the permanent chairman for the Oberlin convention will be two rival candidates for the Republican senatorial nomination in Ohio. Representative Dudley A. White of Norwalk, and Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland.

In the pre-convention vote-trading the most active group was supporters of Ohio's Senator Robert A. Taft. It was rumored that "the boys in the back room" have engineered a deal with supporters of Wendell Willkie for a Taft-Willkie ticket for president and vice president.

The strongest opposition was from a "liberal" group seeking to nominate Mayor Fiorella La Guardia of New York for the presidency.

ELECT KEATING

Mansfielder Named President of Insurance Group.

Charles H. Keating, president and general manager of Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company, was elected president of the Improved Risk Mutuals, a group of 15 of the leading Mutual Fire Insurance companies of America, at the annual meeting in Hot Springs, Va., recently.

The Improved Risk Mutuals was organized in 1921 to handle large lines of insurance, offering the capacity of the entire group in one policy.

Other officers elected with Keating were James S. Kemper, president of the Lumbermans Mutual Casualty company of Chicago, vice president; and C. M. Hutchison, secretary of the Millers Mutual Fire Insurance company of Harrisburg, Pa., secretary.

The Mansfield man also was re-elected to a five-year term on the executive committee.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

You Meet Such Interesting People.
(And It's the Little Things You Remember.)

People who make headlines make memories for the reporters who record their legends, and the memories often are not of what was said or what was done on the date when the type was biggest and blackest—but the little things about them. Things you never wrote in the notebook at the time. Things like this:

Helen Morgan, the girl with the tear-stained voice, is the most absentminded singer who ever chanted into a spotlight. Dozens of times she's been late for shows and night club performances—because so often, just after her hair had been carefully curled, she stepped under a shower! . . . Lana Turner really hates to wear sweaters.

Julie Haydon often reads books and eats apples in night clubs, curled up as quietly and unself-consciously as if she were ensconced in a big chair by the fire in her grandmother' parlor. . . . Mary Brian always gets into telephone booths without nickels.

* * *

Dorothy Lamour reads pulp love story magazines before she goes to sleep. She read them in the biggest bed in Hollywood. . . . Lucy Monroe is the only girl I've ever known who knew all the verses of the "Star Spangled Banner." . . .

Harry Richman has a good story he's never told his press agent. He has a list of 300 mothers (usually mothers whose children are dead, or away, or forgetful) and every year on Mother's day he sends each one four dozen white roses, in memory of his own mother.

Brenda Frazier sometimes changes her coiffure in the middle of the evening. She retires to the powder room and if her hair is up, she takes it down—or if it's down, she pins it up. . . .

* * *

Eddie Davis, the song-spinner, has the largest solarium in New York attached to his penthouse, but he sleeps so late he has to get his tan from a barber shop sun lamp. He's so pale from years in a night club that some evenings he cloaks his ghostly complexion in brown powder. . .

Most chic sister team in Manhattan, since the days when Gloria Vanderbilt and Thelma Furness were paired at tables around town, are Grace and Helen Menken.

Thomas E. Dewey, the presidential candidate, doesn't like to be photographed smoking a cigaret, but he always puts one in his mouth in courtrooms the moment the judge is off the bench. . . . Sophie Tucker, Broadway's most rabid believer in the save-for-a-rainy-day theory, has sold more annuities than any insurance man. She talks all her friends into saving their salaries. (And she wears a woolen undershirt all the time, even under her evening gowns.)

* * *

Grace Moore is a wizard at balancing piled-up champagne glasses. . . . Lou Ambers, the fighter, is a kid right out of one of Jim Tully's more sentimental chapters. When he first started winning, he sent his mother all the presents he always bragged he'd send her when he made good—and none of them were things she needed much or could use (they were silver fox coats and expensive gowns, and she was a simple old lady who admired a nice house dress), but they made him happy, so they made her happy, too.

* * *

Lois De Fee, who is 6 foot 2 inches wears hats that make her look taller. She pays $40 for hats, $7 for her dresses. . .

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Cecil B. DeMille has conceded that only God can make a tree, but he has held out for bringing the mountain to DeMille.

DeMille considered going to the mountain; he compared costs of an extensive location with costs of bringing nature home to Paramount; he thereupon decided to stay on his Hollywood throne and pass a miracle.

The miracle has been under way for some days now, and it is one of C. B.'s better ones. "Northwest Mounted Police" needed a mountain forest of tall trees. The picture also needed about 300 husky Indians. So C. B. is getting his forest and his Indians and bringing them to Hollywood. The forest is covering approximately half of Paramount's 27 acres, and other DeMille sets are occupying six of the sound stages, which ought to make CB sleep well these nights, for nobody else is so collossal.

* * *

The studio has sent a motorcade of trucks to the Big Bear and Lake Arrowhead regions, and they're winding down those mountain roads loaded with forest pines, freshly felled and ranging in height from 30 to 100 feet. There'll be more than 300 of these beauties before they're through "planting."

The forest set, plus the Indians, will dent the budget about $150,000 worth—nothing compared with the cost of taking Gary Cooper, Madeleine Carroll, Paulette Goddard and other stars, plus 50 extras and a crew of 250, to Pendleton, Ore., for three weeks as originally planned.

The movie won't all be home work, however. The Master has had his associate, Art Rosson, in the San Jacinto mountains a month filming battle scenes, and Rosson has another location ahead where the San Joaquin and Stanislaus rivers meet in central California.

* * *

Earl Carroll is staying home, too, not quite as colossally as DeMille, but still home. Carroll's night spots on Sunset is the daily scene of activities for "A Night at Earl Carroll's," and all the movie's interiors will be filmed on the actual scene, an expedient probably necessary with DeMille spreading himself over the studio precincts. Only the club's exterior has been constructed on the lot, this being considered a necessity inasmuch as the sight of a movie crew working on a public street is always a traffic-stopper.

The Carroll club is a movie studio by day and a club, as usual, by night. They clear out the arc-lights, the scaffolds, the cameras and mikes each afternoon in time for the opening stage show, which is just about what the movie is filming.

RUBBER SOURCE IN U. S. BOOMED BY WAR SPREAD

SALINAS, Cal. —(U.P.)— Business leaders of the Salinas valley have proposed that the United States produce its own rubber, using the Guayule plant as the source of supply.

It was pointed out that spread of warfare to the Dutch East Indies would interfere with America's principal sources of supply and the United States might be able to produce its rubber if cultivation of the Guayule plant on a large scale proves successful.

The Guayule is a plant which grows freely in any light, sandy soil of the type suitable for raising beans, barley or similar crops.

It requires 10 inches of rainfall in the winter, but can be irrigated successfully. Guayule requires a dry, dormant summer like in California, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

Business groups supporting the campaign have proposed that marginal and submarginal lands, of which there are thousands of acres in the west and southwest, be devoted to growing the plant. They also have suggested that lands now producing surplus crops at loss to the farmers could be used also.

Production of Guayule was started here in 1922. It since has spread to San Joaquin and Santo Maria valleys and into Southern California. About 6,000 acres are planted now and so far 175,000,000 pounds of rubber have been produced.

Unlike the rubber tree, which must be tapped, Guayule is harvested at minimum expense by plowing the plant out of the ground, grinding it under water in a pebble-mill process similar to that used in making cement, and skimming the rubber, which is lighter than water, off the top.

Dr. W. B. McCallum, botanist directing production here, reported cross-breeding and development of the weight of the rubber has increased tonnage considerably. He said the rubber averages 1,800 pounds per acre at the end of four years and 2,500 pounds after eight years.

The botanist said the plant requires little cultivation and may be plowed under at the end of four years or not before 30 years. In case of emergency, he added, the plant could be harvested in two years, although production would be less than half the amount of a 4-year-old plant.

ONE FATALITY

One Richland county worker was fatally injured while on the job in March and 251 others filed injury claims with the Ohio Industrial commission during the month, the commission's report showed today.

One Richland worker received injuries that resulted in permanent partial disability. Twenty-six claims were for seven days lost time, 18 for seven days or less and 206 were medical treatment cases. Total time lost by county workers during the month was 7,451 days.

There were 113 industrial fatalities in Ohio for the month, 49 of them resulting from the Willow Grove mine disaster in the eastern part of the state. Claims filed in March totaled 16,344, a gain of 1,717 over February.

MOLASSES FLOW SHIFTED BY WAR

Plans of the Conners-Marine Corporation of New York, operators of a fleet of Barge Canal boats, to erect two huge tanks here is expected to turn Buffalo into a molasses trans-shipment center.

The New York company has leased a land tract along Buffalo's waterfront, and construction plans call for an expenditure of $75,000 in erection of two tanks with a capacity of 3,000,000 gallons of molasses and a heating-pumping plant. Operations will start about July 1, it was reported.

Desire of the New York firm to make Buffalo a headquarters for the trans-shipment of molasses resulted from the stoppage of such shipments from Czechoslovakia. Large quantities were imported from the central European nation prior to German control.

The war brought about a reversal of the movement. Molasses now is moving in large quantities from the Western part of the United States in specially-designed tank cars.

Plans call for routing shipments to Buffalo by rail. Here the molasses will be stored in the new tanks and later loaded into steel barges.

INN LUCK

Proprietor, Family Move Out in Time to Miss Avalanche.

GRINDELWALD, Switzerland —(AP)—The absence of foreign tourists in Switzerland during the European war was a good thing for the proprietor of the Baeregg mountain inn and his family. The inn remained empty and the proprietor and his family decided to move down to the village and close the inn. Next night an avalanche ripped the inn off its rock foundations and dumped a part of it on the Grindelwald glacier a thousand feet below.

Senate Probe of Ohio Campaign Expenses Hinted

BULLETIN

CLEVELAND— (AP) —Headquarters of William J. Kennedy, one of seven candidates for Ohio's Democratic gubernatorial nomination, today reported abortive efforts to induce Kennedy to withdraw in favor of former Gov. George White of Marietta.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—The senate campaign investigating committee today scrutinized charges of excessive campaign expenditures in the Ohio Republican and senatorial primary contests today as Sen. Vic Donahey urged the voters to defeat candidates of either party who spend too lavishly to win their offices.

In Washington, Sen. Guy Gillette, (D.-Iowa), chairman of the investigating committee, said complaints had been received not only of excessive expenditures but also of "improper use of state patronage."

He emphasized that both Democratic and Republican senatorial contests were under scrutiny, but it would obviously be impossible for Democrats to make use of state patronage with a Republican state administration.

Contrary to expectations of some observers in Ohio, Donahey in his statement made no endorsement for any of the seven candidates in the Democratic gubernatorial contest. Besides criticizing expensive campaigns as a "blight and curse on progressive government," he took occasion to disavow a movement to conduct a write-in campaign at the primary for him as a candidate for governor. His statement said:

Vote Mailed.

"I have mailed by absent voter's primary ballot to my home county (Logan) and I shall refrain, as has been my custom, from endorsing any candidate for governor on the primary ticket.

"I do however, want to make an observation to my Ohio friends.

"Excessive money-spending candidacies are a blight and a curse to progressive government. Vote against candidates of either party who spend in their campaigns many times more money then the office would pay in salary."

Both former Gov. George White and William J. Kennedy, two of the candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, were reported to have sought Donahey's support, but he declined to say for whom he voted. It was understood in Washington, however, he was eager to see John McSweeney, Wooster, win the senatorial nomination and was prepared to work for his election.

In connection with complaints regarding the Republican senatorial contest Senator Gillette would not disclose the source. He had not decided whether committee investigators would be sent into Ohio. Little probably could be accomplished before the election next Tuesday.

Rep. Dudley A. White, of Norwalk, seeking the G. O. P. nomination for the senate, said he would welcome an investigation and that it would disclose that "we have conducted a senatorial campaign with the most reasonable cost in the last 25 years."

"I have no patronage at all," he said. "The Mayor (Mayor Harold H. Burton, of Cleveland, his chief opponent,) has a substantial amount in the city administration but I would not attempt to say how he has handled it."

DRIVERS ESCAPE

Trucker, Motorist Uninjured After Crash In Lexington.

Two motorists escaped injuries when a truck and an automobile collided at 5:20 p. m. yesterday on route 42 in Lexington.

A car driven by Arlie R. Marks, Longbottom, O., collided with the rear of a truck driven by Harold E Smith of Galion as he attempted to pass the truck, according to highway patrolmen. Neither driver was injured, officers said.

The entry that won first prize in the baseball contest conducted by the Mansfield Baseball club and The News-Journal was really a piece of art. Submitted by Robert S. Hanes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin B. Hanes, 267 West Fifth street, was a small booklet, cut in the shape of a fielder's glove. Each of the 21 pages was colored. On the cover was a drawing of a baseball. And on every page on which he answered a question was a cartoon of a ball player or umpire in action. He even had a drawing of the Fairground park where the Braves play. On one page was a pennant which read: "Mansfield Braves, 1940 champions." Incidentally, all the questions were answered correctly.

Parking his car near Central park a couple of days ago, County Commissioner C. L. Mitchell forgot he had driven the car to work and started looking for it in a garage several blocks from the courthouse. After walking there and not finding it, he was just about ready to report it stolen when he remembered where he left the machine. He is being ribbed by the other two commissioners who say he had no reason to be worried and absent-minded, because he's not seeking re-election this year and they are.

Athletic rivalry between students and teachers at Johnny Appleseed junior high school, which began last month when the boys defeated a team of male teachers in a basketball game, was continued yesterday noon with the teachers coming out on top this time. They defeated the boys in a volleyball game 26 to 16. With the score now at one game apiece, the student body will be trying for another victory next week when a team of girls meets a team of women teachers in another volleyball game.

HAIR STUDIED

Detectives Find Torso Murder Clues in Box Car.

YOUNGSTOWN—(U.P.)—Experts in criminal detection studied about 75 strands of brown hair and several strands of another color today as the first definite clues to the torso slaying of one of three men whose decapitated bodies were found in a railroad box car last week.

The hair was found in the box car by Pittsburgh police along with the bloody print of a human heel smeared on a Youngstown newspaper.

Police believe the recent three slayings took place in Youngstown and that the freight car had been shuttled to Pittsburgh in the course of normal rail operations.

"The brown hair apparently is from one victim," Peter Merylo, Cleveland detective said. Cleveland authorities have joined the investigation seeking to establish a connection between the Youngstown murders and the brutal unsolved slayings of Cleveland's "mad butcher of Kingsbury Run."

Merylo said the other hair, which color he refused to disclose, may have belonged to the actual murderer.

JUNIOR FAIR BOARD ELECTS

Stanley Huston of Shiloh, Named President of Organization.

Stanley Huston of Shiloh had been chosen president of the Richland county junior fair board today for 1940.

PRESENT BASIS FOR WPA GIVEN COMMITTEE O.K.

$1,134,000,000 Bill Reaches House Next Thursday for Consideration.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt's proposal to appropriate $985,000,000 to run the work projects administration for eight months today won the approval of the powerful house appropriations deficiency subcommittee.

The plan would continue operation of WPA on its present annual basis from July 1 until next March 1, when congress would be confronted with necessity of making a deficit appropriation.

The new relief bill, which is expected to total $1,134,000,000 and carry funds for the farm security administration, Puerto Rico relief commission and other allied agencies, is slated to be reported to the house next Thursday.

The program approved by the house subcommittee includes:

1. Modification of present provision of law, which requires 30-day layoff of WPA workers on rolls 18 months, cutting layoff to 15 days. This was recommended by Col F. C. Harrington, WPA commissioner.

2. Continuation of present provision requiring local 25 per cent sponsorship on non-federal WPA projects. Administration sought removal of restriction.

3. Continuation of $52,000 project limit on WPA building construction.

4. Continuation of ban on federal theater projects and continuation of requirement that arts projects be placed on local sponsorship basis.

5. Limitation of administrative employes to five per cent of total.

The plan to limit WPA appropriations to an eight-month period was proposed by the administration, subcommittee members said, to avoid exceeding the present $45,000,000,000 legal debt limit.

WIDOW, 69, DIES

Mrs. Woodhull Was Member of Pioneer Richland Family.

Mrs. Hattie Adams Woodhull, 69, widow of George Woodhull, died yesterday at her home three miles west of Mansfield on the West Fourth street road after a lingering illness.

A life long resident of Richland county, Mrs. Woodhull was born July 7, 1870, in Mansfield. She had been a resident of Springfield township for 24 years. She was the last member of the Alexander and Keziah Neff family, pioneer residents of Richland county.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. George Ricker and a son, Earl Woodhull of Springfield township. She was a member of the Mayflower Congregational church.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the home in charge of Rev. Grover E. Swoyer of the First Lutheran church. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

ILLNESS FATAL TO WIDOW, 56

Mrs. Bertha Harrer Dies At Home Near New Washington.

NEW WASHINGTON — Mrs. Bertha Louise Harrer, 56, widow of Jeffe Harrer, died Wednesday night at the home of a daughter, south of here, after an illness of six years.

Mrs. Harrer was born March 3, 1884, and was preceded in death by her husband in July, 1930. Surviving are six children, two sisters and one brother.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the New Washington Methodist church following brief services at the home of her daughter. Burial will be in Union cemetery.

FARM PAYMENTS

House Votes Today on More Agricultural Funds.

WASHINGTON — (NS) — The house was to vote today on proposal to add $347,000,000 to its agricultural appropriation bill.

This sum was added by the senate after house passage of the supply bill, the upper house asking $212,000,000 for farm parity payments, $85,000,000 for the surplus commodities stamp plan, and $50,000,000 for the farm tenancy program.

SCHOOL HEAD

ASHTABULA — (AP) — City school board has selected E. D. Maurice of Canton from among 58 candidates as superintendent of schools.

FAMOUS YACHTS HEADED FOR WAR

NEW YORK — (INS) — Two famous American yachts were being readied today for sale to British and Canadian purchasers perhaps for eventual war duty against the Germans.

The boats were the $2,000,000 Corsair, J. P. Morgan's 343-foot luxury yacht, and the Mayflower, a 320-foot vessel that was used as United States presidential yacht from 1902 to 1929.

Morgan has applied to the U. S. maritime commission for permission to sell his yacht, which can cross the Atlantic with the ease of an ocean liner, to Camper & Nicholsons, Ltd., British shipowners. A Morgan spokesman said it was not being sold for use as a war vessel.

William Broadfoot, co-owner of the Mayflower now tied up at Wilmington, Del., said he will ask the maritime commission for permission to accept the best of several Canadian purchase offers.

(Editor's note: Although London naval quarters declined comment on the impending purchase of the Corsair, it was pointed out that Camper & Nicholsons is principally engaged in outfitting ships for the British admiralty and that private yachting is no longer permitted in British waters because of the war. Most private English yachts have already been pressed into war service. The Morgan yacht, it was pointed out would be excellently suited for such auxiliary as patrol work.)

Since last April 1 more than 15 large American yachts have been sold to Canadian purchasers with maritime commission permission. All sales were to individuals but it has since been reported the boats have been repurchased by the Canadian government for auxiliary naval duties.

SENT TO SENATE

Postmaster Appointments Made for Ashland, Galion, Bucyrus.

The three nominees need only senate approval to receive the appointments, and the president's nominations are usually upheld.

ELECT KEATING

Mansfielder Named President of Insurance Group.

Charles H. Keating, president and general manager of Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company, was elected president of the Improved Risk Mutuals, a group of 15 of the leading Mutual Fire Insurance companies of America, at the annual meeting in Hot Springs, Va., recently.

The Improved Risk Mutuals was organized in 1921 to handle large lines of insurance, offering the capacity of the entire group in one policy.

Other officers elected with Keating were James S. Kemper, president of the Lumbermans Mutual Casualty company of Chicago, vice president; and C. M. Hutchison, secretary of the Millers Mutual Fire Insurance company of Harrisburg, Pa., secretary.

The Mansfield man also was re-elected to a five-year term on the executive committee.

OBERLIN MOCK CONVENTION TO PICK REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES

(By United Press)

OBERLIN — Political oratory will replace classroom theory at Oberlin college Friday and Saturday when 1800 students participate in Oberlin's 20th quadrennial mock political convention.

Planned as a full-scale rehearsal of the Republican presidential convention in Philadelphia this June, the Oberlin convention will be staged under a huge circus tent on the college campus. Bands will play, "candidates" will sound forth with stump speeches, and old-fashioned political "horse trading" will take place in the "backrooms."

Since the Oberlin student body voted last fall that the convention be Republican, the students will be divided into state delegations, with the same numerical strength as at regular G. O. P. conventions.

Of the 19 previous conventions, the delegates nine times nominated men for the presidency who were later chosen at the regular party conventions. However, the slogan—"as Oberlin goes, so goes the nation" — was soft-pedalled after 1936, when the Republican candidate, John G. Winant, later became a Democratic long-shot.

The keynote speaker and the permanent chairman for the Oberlin convention will be two rival candidates for the Republican senatorial nomination in Ohio, Representative Dudley A. White of Norwalk, and Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland.

In the pre-convention vote-trading the most active group was supporters of Ohio's Senator Robert A. Taft. It was rumored that "the boys in the back room" have engineered a deal with supporters of Wendell Willkie for a Taft-Willkie ticket for president and vice president.

The strongest opposition was from a "liberal" group seeking to nominate Mayor Fiorella La Guardia of New York for the presidency.

"I just want to see if you can play it blindfolded, dear. Here's your bow."

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

You Meet Such Interesting People.
(And It's the Little Things You Remember.)

People who make headlines make memories for the reporters who record their legends, and the memories often are not of what was said or what was done on the date when the type was biggest and blackest—but the little things about them. Things you never wrote in the notebook at the time. Things like this:

Helen Morgan, the girl with the tear-stained voice, is the most absentminded singer who ever chanted into a spotlight. Dozens of times she's been late for shows and night club performances—because so often, just after her hair had been carefully curled, she stepped under a shower! . . . Lana Turner really hates to wear sweaters.

Julie Haydon often reads books and eats apples in night clubs, curled up as quietly and unself-consciously as if she were ensconced in a big chair by the fire in her grandmother' parlor. . . . Mary Brian always gets into telephone booths without nickels.

* * *

When Marlene Dietrich combs her hair, gold dust falls on her shoulders. That glamor . . . Jon Hall, one of the torso lads, wears flower-printed Hawaiian shirts (just like the waiters at the Beachcomber) to the most formal Hollywood parties, and Frances Langford, his bride, lets him get away with it. . . . When Jimmy Cannon courts a girl, he telegraphs her flowers from the phone booth at the Stork club—even if she lives only two blocks away. . .

* * *

Dorothy Lamour reads pulp love story magazines before she goes to sleep. She read them in the biggest bed in Hollywood. . . . Lucy Monroe is the only girl I've ever known who knew all the verses of the "Star Spangled Banner." . . .

Harry Richman has a good story he's never told his press agent. He has a list of 500 mothers (usually mothers whose children are dead, or away, or forgetful) and every year on Mother's day he sends each one four dozen white roses, in memory of his own mother.

Brenda Frazier sometimes changes her coiffure in the middle of the evening. She retires to the powder room and if her hair is up, she takes it down—or if it's down, she pins it up. . . .

Elinor Troy, who became famous when she gave Jack Doyle a black eye, never goes to prizefights because she can't bear to witness physical combat.

* * *

They're completely different, but somehow Irving Berlin and Jack Dempsey give the same effect of shyness. . . . Greta Garbo used to refer poetically to Leopold Stokowski, as "my boy friend" . . .

Sam Levene's most valued "prop" is a real police Legion of Honor commendation stripe given to him by an admiring cop. He wears it over his badge on his stage uniform.

Eddie Davis, the song-spinner, has the largest solarium in New York attached to his penthouse, but he sleeps so late he has to get his tan from a barber shop sun lamp. He's so pale from years in a night club that some evenings he cloaks his ghostly complexion in brown powder. . .

Most chic sister team in Manhattan, since the days when Gloria Vanderbilt and Thelma Furness were paired at tables around town, are Grace and Helen Menken.

* * *

Thomas E. Dewey, the presidential candidate, doesn't like to be photographed smoking a cigaret, but he always puts one in his mouth in courtrooms the moment the judge is off the bench. . . . Sophie Tucker, Broadway's most rabid believer in the save-for-a-rainy-day theory, has sold more annuities than any insurance man. She talks all her friends into saving their salaries. (And she wears a woolen undershirt all the time, even under her evening gowns.)

* * *

Grace Moore is a wizard at balancing piled-up champagne glasses. . . . Lou Ambers, the fighter, is a kid right out of one of Jim Tully's more sentimental chapters. When he first started winning, he sent his mother all the presents he always bragged he'd send her when he made good—and none of them were things she needed much or could use (they were silver fox coats and expensive gowns, and she was a simple old lady who admired a nice house dress), but they made him happy, so they made her happy, too.

Rosita Royce, the dove dancer, won't wear feathers in her hat because she loves birds so. . . .

No expression in the theater is more delightful than the twinkling one on critic John Anderson's face when he exits up the aisle toward the typewriter after a particularly bad play. . .

* * *

Lois De Fee, who is 6 foot 2 inches wears hats that make her look taller. She pays $40 for hats, $7 for her dresses. . .

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Cecil B. DeMille has conceded that only God can make a tree, but he has held out for bringing the mountain to DeMille.

DeMille considered going to the mountain; he compared costs of an extensive location with costs of bringing nature home to Paramount; he thereupon decided to stay on his Hollywood throne and pass a miracle.

The miracle has been under way for some days now, and it is one of C. B.'s better ones. "Northwest Mounted Police" needed a mountain forest of tall trees. The picture also needed about 300 husky Indians. So C. B. is getting his forest and his Indians and bringing them to Hollywood. The forest is covering approximately half of Paramount's 27 acres, and other DeMille sets are occupying six of the sound stages, which ought to make CB sleep well these nights, for nobody else is so collossal.

The studio has sent a motorcade of trucks to the Big Bear and Lake Arrowhead regions, and they're winding down those mountain roads loaded with forest pines, freshly felled and ranging in height from 30 to 100 feet. There'll be more than 300 of these beauties before they're through "planting."

DeMille wants real Indians, and there aren't enough on Central Casting's lists. He has scouts in Arizona and northeastern California rounding up the tribe.

The forest set, plus the Indians, will dent the budget about $150,000 worth—nothing compared with the cost of taking Gary Cooper, Madeleine Carroll, Paulette Goddard and other stars, plus 50 extras and a crew of 250, to Pendleton, Ore., for three weeks as originally planned.

The movie won't all be home work, however. The Master has had his associate, Art Rosson, in the San Jacinto mountains a month filming battle scenes, and Rosson has another location ahead where the San Joaquin and Stanislaus rivers meet in central California.

* * *

Earl Carroll is staying home, too, not quite as colossally as DeMille, but still home. Carroll's night spots on Sunset is the daily scene of activities for "A Night at Earl Carroll's," and all the movie's interiors will be filmed on the actual scene, an expedient probably necessary with DeMille spreading himself over the studio precincts. Only the club's exterior has been constructed on the lot, this being considered a necessity inasmuch as the sight of a movie crew working on a public street is always a traffic-stopper.

The Carroll club is a movie studio by day and a club, as usual, by night. They clear out the arc-lights, the scaffolds, the cameras and mikes each afternoon in time for the opening stage show, which is just about what the movie is filming.

INDIANS HELP RECLAIM SOIL

Learn in CCC Camps to Save Areas Ruined by Grazing of Large Herds.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—(U.P.)—American Indians, by means of the CCC, are learning to fight the battle of life the white man's way and at the same time reclaim vast western areas despoiled by the white man's herds overgrazing.

V. W. Balderson is the co-ordinating officer between the Indian service and the Salt Lake City headquarters for Indian CCC work in Utah, Nevada, northern California, southern Idaho and Colorado.

Development of water holes is the first interest of Indians in this area, Balderson reports. Digging wells, developing springs, diverting water for irrigation and building dams occupy most of the Indians' time.

Next in importance comes the land use program. Vast areas of desert land have been reseeded and fenced off to keep cattle and sheep from overgrazing. Balderson said that "because the Indian is working to improve his own land, his productivity is much higher than white workers on land which does not belong to them."

The Indian camps are big affairs, drawing during the winter months nearly all the able-bodied men in the tribes. The camps are usually on wheels so that they may be moved easily from place to place.

OCTOPUS ARM FOR SOUVENIR

PORT ANGELS, Wash.—(U.P.)—Thirteen-year-old Douglas Burgess has proof he saved the life of his friend, 12-year-old Howard Huffman, who was attacked by an octopus.

Douglas kept part of the devilfish's tentacle that he cut off with his pocket knife as the octopus was trying to drag Howard into the water from a rock.

Douglas held his chum by the leg as he slashed more than two feet off the octopus' arm with his knife.

FIST MEASURES SIZE OF HEART

PHILADELPHIA — (U.P.) — Curl your fingers into a fist and that is the size of your heart.

Dr. W. Edward Chamberlain, of Temple University, reported a postgraduate institute of the Philadelphia County Medical Society that examinations over a number of years have accurately proved that the size of your heart is reflected in the measurements of your fist.

"Big-fisted people have large hearts," he explained, "and small-fisted people have small hearts."

LAMB LUMPS IT

HELENA, Mont.—(AP)—There was one delegate who didn't seem to get any fun out of hotel life during the 1940 woolgrowers' convention in Helena. He was a lamb quartered in one corner of the lobby and, although he was supposed to be a guest of honor, the bellboys reported he "wasn't particularly interested in the goings-on."

German Inspects Supplies Captured In Norway

COLLEGE FUN

O.S.U. Student Signs 'J. Edgar Hoover' to Fingerprints.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Someone is fooling the finger-printers.

"J. Edgar Hoover, age 45, United States Department of Justice, Washington, D. C."

"Whether it really was the No. 1 G-man or not, the fingerprints will go into the record," declared Fraternity President Marvin E. Goldston.

(A check-up revealed that J. Edgar has not been near the campus since the finger-printing started.)

NO TAKERS

ROANOKE, Va.—(AP)—Found, $40 and a new pair of overalls! Owner may obtain by applying to Federal officers.

Despite this announcement in a local newspaper, Federal men aren't expecting any inquiries. Along with the money they found a 350-gallon still, 1,500 gallons of mash and 75 gallons of whisky.

College Student To Be Graduated Before His Dad

FORT WORTH, Tex.— (NS) — As far as the Hartle family of Texas Christian University is concerned, the old Biblical saying about the last being first, is certainly coming true.

Son Bob matriculated as a freshman last September, but his father, J. E. Hartle, has just enrolled in the college and won't get out until a couple of years later than his son. Mrs. Hartle plans to enroll next fall to work for a master's degree in French, so the whole family will be in college together.

The elder Hartle plans to take his degree in some field for natural science such as geology, and commencement day will be additionally delayed for him because he's taking only three courses at a time.

"That's all Dad has time for, since he's working our way through college," explains son Bob.

BEARD PULLER HAS A REASON

He Wants to Know if Stranger's Whiskers Are False.

WICHITA, Kans.—(AP)—A man with whiskers was dining in a hotel. Up came a stranger and said: "Listen, fellow, would you care if I pull your whiskers?"

"Why, no," said the brushy one. "Go ahead, but gently."

The stranger tugged, then turned to a companion in disgust. "Here's your dollar, they're real," he said. The fellow, Bob Tahaferro of El Dorado, Kans., grew the beard for a pioneer celebration.

INDIANS HELP RECLAIM SOIL

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—(U.P.)—American Indians, by means of the CCC, are learning to fight the battle of life the white man's way and at the same time reclaim vast western areas despoiled by the white man's herds overgrazing

V. W. Balderson is the co-ordinating officer between the Indian service and the Salt Lake City headquarters for Indian CCC work in Utah, Nevada, northern California, southern Idaho and Colorado.

Development of water holes is the first interest of Indians in this area, Balderson reports. Digging wells, developing springs, diverting water for irrigation and building dams occupy most of the Indians' time.

Next in importance comes the land use program. Vast areas of desert land have been reseeded and fenced off to keep cattle and sheep from overgrazing. Balderson said that "because the Indian is working to improve his own land, his productivity is much higher than white workers on land which does not belong to them."

The Indian camps are big affairs, drawing during the winter months nearly all the able-bodied men in the tribes. The camps are usually on wheels so that they may be moved easily from place to place.

OCTOPUS ARM FOR SOUVENIR

PORT ANGELS, Wash.—(U.P.)—Thirteen-year-old Douglas Burgess has proof he saved the life of his friend, 12-year-old Howard Huffman, who was attacked by an octopus.

Douglas kept part of the devilfish's tentacle that he cut off with his pocket knife as the octopus was trying to drag Howard into the water from a rock.

Douglas held his chum by the leg as he slashed more than two feet off the octopus' arm with his knife.

FIST MEASURES SIZE OF HEART

PHILADELPHIA — (U.P.) — Curl your fingers into a fist and that is the size of your heart.

Dr. W. Edward Chamberlain, of Temple University, reported a postgraduate institute of the Philadelphia County Medical Society that examinations over a number of years have accurately proved that the size of your heart is reflected in the measurements of your fist.

"Big-fisted people have large hearts," he explained, "and small-fisted people have small hearts."

LAMB LUMPS IT

HELENA, Mont.—(AP)—There was one delegate who didn't seem to get any fun out of hotel life during the 1940 woolgrowers' convention in Helena. He was a lamb quartered in one corner of the lobby and, although he was supposed to be a guest of honor, the bellboys reported he "wasn't particularly interested in the goings-on."

German Inspects Supplies Captured In Norway

COLLEGE FUN

O.S.U. Student Signs 'J. Edgar Hoover' to Fingerprints.

COLUMBUS—(AP)— Someone is fooling the finger-printers.

"J. Edgar Hoover, age 45, United States Department of Justice, Washington, D. C."

"Whether it really was the No. 1 G-man or not, the fingerprints will go into the record," declared Fraternity President Marvin E. Goldston.

(A check-up revealed that J. Edgar has not been near the campus since the finger-printing started.)

NO TAKERS

ROANOKE, Va.—(AP)—Found, $40 and a new pair of overalls! Owner may obtain by applying to Federal officers.

Despite this announcement in a local newspaper, Federal men aren't expecting any inquiries. Along with the money they found a 350-gallon still, 1,500 gallons of mash and 75 gallons of whisky.

College Student To Be Graduated Before His Dad

FORT WORTH, Tex.— (NS) — As far as the Hartle family of Texas Christian University is concerned, the old Biblical saying about the last being first, is certainly coming true

Son Bob matriculated as a freshman last September, but his father, J. E. Hartle, has just enrolled in the college and won't get out until a couple of years later than his son. Mrs. Hartle plans to enroll next fall to work for a master's degree in French, so the whole family will be in college together.

The elder Hartle plans to take his degree in some field for natural science such as geology, and commencement day will be additionally delayed for him because he's taking only three courses at a time.

"That's all Dad has time for, since he's working our way through college," explains son Bob.

STRATOSPHERE TESTS CARRIED OUT ON GROUND

Minnesota University Youths Make Experiments in Mayo Clinic Laboratory.

ROCHESTER, Minn. — (UP) — Three University of Minnesota aeronautical engineering students are making "stratosphere flights" —approaching eight-mile levels— without leaving the ground.

In a recent test "flight," Norman Huseby, Charles French and Keva Miller "ascended" to 35,000 feet in 15 minutes, returned to ground level in 20. Their reactions to changing pressures were closely checked at each level.

Purpose of the pressure-chamber tests, it was explained is two-fold.

Mayo clinic research scientists, headed by Drs. Walter M. Boothby and W. R. Lovelace, are seeking to determine what man needs to maintain life and efficiency at extremely high altitudes.

Under the direction of Prof John D Akerman, the university aeronautical school wishes to learn the factors which may one day lead to stratosphere navigation — goal of military and commercial fliers.

The rapidity of the "rise" experienced by the three students is made possible through use of a new type rubber oxygen mask developed by Mayo research workers.

The laboratory's work has shown that pilots are susceptible to attacks of "the bends" in high altitudes Bends, or "caisson disease," is common to deep-sea divers and tunnel men who work under high pressure and are brought to the surface — with the corresponding decrease in air pressure—too rapidly The malady is caused by expansion of nitrogen bubbles in the bloodstream, doctors explained.

By breathing pure oxygen, nitrogen content of the blood is decreased and the danger from abruptly lowered air pressures considerably lessened

NERVES FRAYED BY FIREWORKS

PITTSBURGH — (UP) — Fireworks displays and "war nerves" don't mix, Safety Director George E A Fairley has decided

In response to "hundreds of requests" from jittery citizens, Fairley has announced a ban on all fireworks displays which include explosions by aerial bombs.

The ruling augments the already operative state law which bans all fireworks, save those displays set off by experts under municipal license

POP QUESTION

CRANE, Mo — (UP) — More than a pay check goes with a job behind P. R. "Pop" Beloit's soda fountain. He's lost three female fountain attendants in three months— to the tune of wedding bells. Beloit points out that one a month isn't bad Leap Year average.

Italy Operates Aluminum Train Of Six Coaches

ROME — (UNS) — Italy has produced an all-aluminum train. It consists of six coaches, containing 48 first class seats and 64 second class seats, and runs on the main Rome-Calabria line.

The aluminum, which is very hard and produced in Italy is especially light. A coach only weighs 33 tons against the 45 tons which ordinary metal coaches weigh. They are 63 feet long and streamlined.

Each coach is covered externally by a single sheet of aluminum with deep horizontal grooves which form a pleasing design. The roof, window frames and doors are also made of the same metal.

The coaches are mounted on frames with specially constructed springs to stop jolting and shaking, and to deaden the noise of the wheels. No matter what the temperature outside may be the carriages will always be at an equable temperature inside.

SELECT STOCKS EXHIBIT QUIET SUPPORT TODAY

Steels, Motors Among Issues Attracting Attention; Bonds Are Narrow.

(By Associated Press)

Among issues attracting support were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Boeing, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Chrysler, Consolidated Edison, and Standard Oil of N. J.

Commodities worked a bit higher. Bonds were narrow and foreign securities markets irregular. The pound sterling, up at the start, eventually slipped.

The principal buying influence for shares was seen in the growing belief that the allies would step up the war and broaden their demand for American goods.

Market followers studied the Dun & Bradstreet summary showing the country's bank clearings for the week ended yesterday, while a shade under the preceding week's aggregate, topped the comparable 1939 period by 11.6 per cent.

PILOT'S SON GETS THRILL

Daddy Lands Stratoliner But Boy Cheers for Train.

KANSAS CITY. — (AP) — Otis Bryan, jr., 5, got a thrill but it wasn't because his daddy, Capt. Otis Byran, piloted the first stratoliner plane to a landing on municipal airport.

RAILROAD BILL VOTE PREPARED

Measure Designed To Meet Critical Situations.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The house today prepared to vote on senate changes in the Wheeler-Lea bill, most important transportation measure to face congress in many years.

The bill, designed to help railroads meet a critical situation, extends jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission. Its major objective is to effectuate equalization of rates on a competitive basis for railroads, motor trucks and waterway carriers.

FISH SAFE NOW

Nimrod's Ashes Scattered In Waters of Niagara.

BUFFALO, N. Y. —(AP)— Three friends of Albert E. Vagt, 77, past president of a fishing club, carried out his last request by casting his ashes into the Niagara river and reciting this epitaph:

"Poor little fish, you won't have to be afraid of me any more."

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Receive Tax Money—The city today received $11,425 in gasoline tax funds from the state, City Auditor Paul L. Kelley announced. Part of anticipated annual revenues, the money will be used for maintenance of city streets.

Meets Tonight—The Richland County Workers Alliance will meet at 7:30 p. m. today at the organization's headquarters at 15½ North Park street. WPA job stewards will hold a session at 7 p. m. at the same place.

Speaks Tonight — DeWitt M. Emery of Akron, president and founder of the National Small Business Men's association, will address Mansfield business men at 7:30 p. m. today in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Attend Funeral—Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wappner, 98½ South Diamond street, and son, James, were in Elmore, O., today attending funeral services for Mrs. Wappner's brother, Fred Yesse, who died at his home there last Sunday.

Truck Stolen—The theft of his truck from the fairgrounds last night was reported to police by E. C. Boals, 45 Maple street. Boals who was attending the Mansfield-Findlay baseball game reported the vehicle missing after the contest.

Elects Officers—The Mansfield Humane society board of directors will elect officers at a meeting at 4 p. m. Friday at 100 West Fourth street. Philip Wolfe, society president, will preside.

YOUNG DRINKERS ALSO HEAVIEST

Survey Shows Elbow-Bending Greatly Increased in Last Three Years.

CHICAGO — (U.P.) — Excessive drinking,especially among persons between 20 and 30 years old, has increased greatly in the last three years, according to Charles P. Jones, executive vice president of the American Business Men's Research Foundation.

"A survey reveals that in the younger age group two out of five men and one out of twelve women drink in such amounts as to constitute in many cases substandard risks for life insurance companies," Jones said.

Jones said the foundation was conducting an analysis of the experiences of insurance companies as concerns drinking habits.

"Drinking habits, we have found, are responsible for one of the most difficult situations ever to arise in the life insurance business," he said.

"Many directors and underwriters are advising us that they are forced either to decline outright or to accept only at special high rates, more applicants for life insurance for excessive drinking habits than for any other cause," Jones said.

"With high blood pressure and serious heart ailments, both frequently the results of drinking, they are responsible for more rejections than for all other causes combined," Jones said.

SPRING LOST

Commissioner Henry G. Shirley said the spring disappeared after the department had made improvements on a secondary road nearby. The property owner, claiming that blasting by the highway department caused his spring to dry up, has brought suit for damages.

Belgium is the most densely populated country in Europe. There are about 710 persons to the square mile.

TWO BOYS HELD FOR ROBBERIES

BUCYRUS—Two boys, 14 and 15 years old, whose names are being withheld by authorities, are awaiting a hearing before Juvenile Judge Constance Keller on a series of petty robberies.

Their arrest, Police Chief Stuckert said, clears up a long list of small crimes to which the boys have confessed.

Included in the list are three Bucyrus school robberies, thefts from automobiles, auto theft and bicycle thefts, the auto being stolen at Mansfield May 4 and driven to the city limits and abandoned. They have also admitted the theft of a bicycle at Galion, which was thrown into the Sandusky river here, according to the boys. Police are recovering the "bike."

Although in 50 years over 2500 patents have been granted on devices to replace wooden ties on railroads, not one has been as good or as cheap.

Stop Getting Up Nights—
Be Happier—Live Longer

35 CENTS PROVES IT

That dragged out feeling may mean that your kidneys are inactive and distressed—persistent backache, nervousness and dizzy spells may mean the same thing.

Good active kidneys relieving the body of excess acid and poisons are what we all should strive to attain and when kidneys and bladder are distressed—

A good safe effective diuretic such as GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules is called for—so if you have to get up often at night—if passage is scanty or difficult and smarting or burning is in evidence—if you have shifting pains or leg twinges or puffy eyes it may help your health if you pay attention to your kidneys.

GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules is a grand diuretic—for scores of years it has been used by people all over America and in other countries—it can't harm you.

In every GOLD MEDAL Capsule you get the genuine—the pure—the original Haarlem Oil right from Haarlem in Holland. So don't be an EASY MARK and accept a substitute—Look for the Gold Medal on the box. 35 cents.

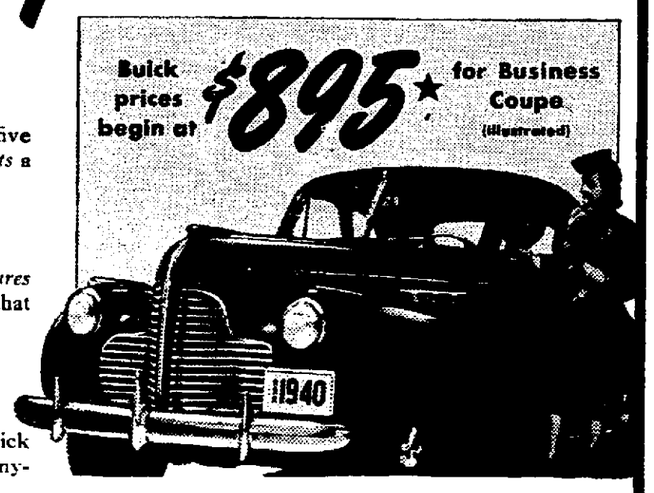
What to do when the bug bites you!

Our Sales are Swell— and so are the deals your Buick dealer is making!



FIGURES show that about one out of every five able-to-purchase new-car buyers really wants a Buick more than any other car.

Too many of them without even getting actual figures will shake their heads and sigh, "Nope! A car that big and handsome must be out of my reach!"

When the bug to own a Buick bites you, you'll figure that a car as talked-about as Buick must be looked at first—if you're going to have anything to go on in judging 1940 values.

"Show me those big soft coil springs you talk about and how they smooth out that rough stretch down the street — and what's the business about recoil-mounted Knee-Action, heaviest frames at the price, five-foot front seat room in SUPER models, and six dozen new 1940 features?"

Current prices† start at $895 *for the business coupe, delivered at Flint, Mich. To this add transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), and optional equipment and accessories—though there will be few such "extras" you'll need.

That totals up to low delivered prices that are often only a few dimes more a day than on cars in the lowest-price class—so why hesitate or haggle?

SHOP AT MUIR'S—THE PROFIT IS YOURS

Our Sales are Swell— and so are the deals your Buick dealer is making!

What to do when the bug bites you!

Buick prices begin at $895* for Business Coupe (illustrated)

FIGURES show that about one out of every five able-to-purchase new-car buyers really wants a Buick more than any other car.

Not all will buy one.

Too many of them without even getting actual figures will shake their heads and sigh, "Nope! A car that big and handsome must be out of my reach!"

You'll be smarter than that, we know.

When the bug to own a Buick bites you, you'll figure that a car as talked-about as Buick must be looked at first—if you're going to have anything to go on in judging 1940 values.

You'll realize it doesn't cost a cent to find out how one feels under your own hand and what the delivered prices are.

So you'll walk in, please, to the nearest Buick dealer and boldly say:

"Let me have a good look at that car that's showing the rest of 'em what modern style is.

"Let me try out that big straight-eight engine that's electrically balanced after assembly for smoothness to match a wrist watch's works.

"Show me those big soft coil springs you talk about and how they smooth out that rough stretch down the street — and what's the business about recoil-mounted Knee-Action, heaviest frames at the price, five-foot front seat room in SUPER models, and six dozen new 1940 features?"

Current prices† start at $895 *for the business coupe, delivered at Flint, Mich. To this add transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), and optional equipment and accessories—though there will be few such "extras" you'll need.

That totals up to low delivered prices that are often only a few dimes more a day than on cars in the lowest-price class—so why hesitate or haggle?

"Best buy's Buick!"
